Bits of Body, Clothing and Papers Strwn on Tracks Mute Tragedy Evidence

FOUL PLAY STRONGEST THEORY ADVANCED

Authorities Seek Light on Young Man's Movements to Give Working Clues

Discovery of a horribly-mangled body, identified as that of Edward J. Rubien, young salesman, 221 Cleveland street, Montebello, on the Santa Fe railroad tracks near Mc-Cray street, this city, today, led the authorities to institute an investigation of a possible crime mystery. The theory that Rubien, aged 23, was a suicide or that he might have been murdered and his body placed upon the railroad track to hide the crime gained strength as an alternative to the theory of accident, when investigators took stock of circumstances surrounding the tragedy and found that the latter theory appeared improbable.

Railway signal maintainers, C. R. Stoy and C. E. Erthal of Fullerton, came upon the body at 9:15 a. m. a short distance south of the Mc-Cray street crossing at the outskirts of this city. Fragments of the body were scattered over a thousand feet of track. Bits of clothing and papers were strewn along the right-of-way, giving mute testimony of the tragedy that had been enacted.

High In Lodge Circles. These papers published Rubien's identity, and indicated that he was a Mason and a past grand of the I. O. O. F. Morenci lodge No. 22, Morenci, Ariz. It was shown that he was a salesman for the Fuller Brush company.

At the offices of L. T. Anderson, Whittier, Fuller Brush company representative for that district, it was learned that Mrs. Rubien, who had been up all night, called there at 8:15 a. m. today on the verge of prostration because Rubien had failed to return home last night after leaving Montebello at 1 p. m. yesterday.

Anderson, who at that time did not know of Rubien's death, told Mrs. Rubien that her husband was working at Belvedere Gardens yesterday. Mrs. Rubien accordingly left for that place to prosecute her search.

Anderson said that Rubien began working for the company a week ago today. The new salesman was to have attended an employees' meeting at Anderson's office last night, but was absent.

"How Rubien came to be in the vicinity of Santa Ana is a mystery to me," Anderson commented.

Rubien owned the small car in which he drove away from Montebello yesterday with his case of samples to begin work at Belvedere Gardens, according to Anderson. The man, Anderson said, was apparently in fairly good circumstances.

ORGANIZE FOR STATE FIGHT ON DISEASE

OAKLAND, Feb. 26.—Eight thousand five hundred head of livestock in three California counties have been found infected with the hoof and mouth disease, G. H. Hecke, state commissioner of agriculture, announced today. Hecke is here, heading the fight against the disease which centers in Alameda county. Four counties now are under strict quarantine and 17 others under provisions quarantine.

(By United Press Leased Wire) OAKLAND, Feb. 26.—Headquarters from which federal and state agricultural officers will direct the war on hoof and mouth disease among the cattle in California were opened here today.

All federal and state meat and dairy product inspectors were to assemble during the day to receive orders relating to quarantine restrictions, the necessary slaughter of cattle, hogs and sheep where infection appears and the inspection of fresh meat and dairy products where necessary.

Six counties have been placed under strict quarantine and all livestock has been ordered isolated. Slaughter of many hundred will be ordered. All shipments of cattle from counties where the disease has appeared have been ordered stopped. Several states already have placed embargoes on California cattle because of the disease.

Shipments of spring lambs will be seriously affected but the price of meat in this state will not be increased, agricultural department officials predict.

From Sacramento has come word that a special session of the legislature may be called to consider the situation should it become more acute, and congress may be asked to appropriate at least $2,000,000 to combat the plague and to reimburse cattle owners for cattle slaughtered.

Two Men and Woman Plan Cruise In 40-Foot Boat to South Seas

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—Eighty years old, Captain R. W. Nye soon will be sailing to the South Seas in a 40-foot schooner. He has made and lost three fortunes, and this trip is planned with the hope of gaining a fourth. Crew for the 35-day trip to the Galapagos Islands will be Nye, his wife and John J. Sjordstrom.

The Galapagos Islands are seldom visited, but are rich in pearls.

"A small boat and plenty of canvas, that's the way we'll go," explains Captain Nye. "We want plenty of thrills, as well as plenty of pearls."

HEART ATTACK IS FATAL TO NOVELIST

(By United Press Leased Wire) NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—George Randolph Chester, novelist, and known to thousands as the author of "Get Rich Quick Wallingford," died at his apartment here today.

Chester died at 5 a. m. His wife was with him. No preparations have been made for the funeral. The cause of death was given as heart disease.

It was indicated, however, that death was sudden. Publishers said they talked with the novelist yesterday and that he was in good health.

Chester was born in Ohio 54 years ago. He left home at an early age and began newspaper work as a reporter on the Detroit News. Later he worked on the Cincinnati Enquirer, of which he was Sunday editor. He wrote for newspaper syndicates and magazines.

The novelist worked with his wife until 11:30 last night on a new series of stories he was preparing. It was said and then he ate a heavy meal before retiring.

He awakened several times during the night and complained of feeling ill. About 5 a. m. Mrs. Chester said, he sat up suddenly in bed, coughed and fell back dead.

During the night Mrs. Chester said her husband complained of pain in his arms and back and applied liniment. Later he took a hot bath and the hot water caused intense burning of his skin, which was irritated by the liniment.

HARBOR BOARD HEAD FACING DISMISSAL

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26.—Rumor that Charles J. Corden, present harbor commissioner, has been offered the presidency of that body, succeeding Edgar McKee, prevailed about the city hall today, apparently coming from authentic sources.

Mayor Croyer admitted he had his new harbor program formulated but refused to divulge it at this time.

President McKee, it was reported was slated to be dismissed either late today or tomorrow.

Corden called on Mayor Croyer this morning to find out if he accepted the presidency whether it will be for McKee's unexpired term of a year and a half or a full term of four years.

La Follette Gets In Mich. Battle

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 26.—Senator Robert M. La Follette's name went on the Michigan Republican presidential primary ballot today.

Out of 124 signatures on a nominating petition filed here, 110 were acceptable, ten more than are required.

Petitions already have been filed for President Coolidge and Senator Hiram Johnson but the latter is still a few signatures short.

"30" BULLETINS WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—President Coolidge and his cabinet at their regular meeting today turned much of their attention to the foot and mouth disease that has broken out in California. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace reported at length on the disease and stated that it is the first epidemic that has broken out in this country since the prevalence of the disease in 1914.

NAB ACCUSED BANK CROOK IN TEXAS

Smooth Financial Swindler Who 'Worked' Here Is Jailed, Claim

Police Inspector Sid Smithwick left here this afternoon for El Paso, Tex., to bring back to Santa Ana a man whom he terms "one of the cleverest alleged bank crooks who has baffled detectives throughout the entire Western and Southern country."

City Marshal Claude Rogers late yesterday received a telegram from T. C. Armstrong, captain of El Paso detectives, stating that a man wanted in Santa Ana on a felony charge was being detained in the El Paso city jail, the man having been identified, according to the message, as Frank A. Morrison, alias Frank V. Morris, alias Frank B. Cotton.

Morrison, with his other aliases, is said by local police to be a confirmed dope fiend of the worst kind. He is 42 years old.

Morrison's asserted modus operandi in depositing an alleged bogus check for $2400 in various Western and Southern cities, drawing on these accounts and quickly departing, has made him a "noted bank worker," according to Smithwick.

The police here state they have information to prove Morrison last month made a deposit of a bogus check for $2400 with the United Bank and Trust company in San Francisco. On the second day of this month he deposited with a bank of Santa Ana a check for $2400 drawn on the San Francisco bank.

S. A. Merchants Hit During his brief stay in this city, police say, Morrison drew several hundred dollars worth of the latter bank's checks which were accepted by Santa Ana merchants and for which they gave cash and merchandise. Before the local firms had a chance to present Morrison's checks at the bank, Morrison hastened to another city where he showed his Santa Ana deposit slip for $2400 which then enabled him to draw a check for the entire amount as a deposit in a bank elsewhere, according to Smithwick.

This same procedure must have netted the man plenty of spending money, in the opinion of local authorities, until Morrison's operations were blocked when he attempted to deposit an asserted worthless check for $2400 at the State National bank of El Paso.

While Morrison has signed an extradition waiver, Smithwick received a second telegram from Captain Armstrong, urging him to leave immediately for El Paso to take charge of the prisoner on a felony warrant.

U. S. COURT TRIAL OF 2 TO OPEN

Fifty Witnesses Ready to Testify Against Remaining Defendants

Coming as a surprise to the prosecution, two of the four defendants in the Square Deal syndicate alleged oil fraud trial changed their pleas from not guilty to guilty before Federal Judge Bledsoe, in Los Angeles, today, according to word received here.

The two who turned state's evidence are Joseph F. Genderson and George K. Nickerson, leaving Christopher Nelson and Webster W. Bush to be tried.

With the selection of the jury completed, taking of testimony in the trial was scheduled to begin in Federal Judge Bledsoe's court, Los Angeles, this afternoon.

The Square Deal syndicate had head offices in Long Beach. Property involved in the suit is situated at Wintersburg.

The men were charged with using the mails to defraud. The syndicate began operations March 23, 1922, and suspended activity October 5, 1922, after State Corporation Commissioner Daugherty ordered it to cut down selling expenses.

Nelson purchased 40 acres of land, the prosecution claims, paying $40,000 for it. The tract is located a mile and a half from production. He is asserted to have retained 10 acres, turning over the remainder to the syndicate.

The tract was subdivided, prospects were taken from Long Beach, Los Angeles and other cities, given a hot lunch and a warm speech by Nickerson, the "spiel" who was called an "eminent geologist," then given a chance to buy 1625 feet holdings at sums ranging from $200 to $250.

One well was started but abandoned at 2869 feet. The syndicate sold 2000 lots, it is charged, "cleaning up" nearly $300,000.

Nearly fifty witnesses packed the courtroom when the trial opened today. Assistant Attorney General David C. Cahill, from Washington, is handling the prosecution.

McAdoo Tosses Hat Into Ohio Campaign

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 26.—Williams Gibbs McAdoo, California, today, formally filed a candidacy in Ohio for the Democratic presidential nomination.

McAdoo telegraphed from Los Angeles to Secretary of State Brown declaring himself as a candidate in the Ohio preferential primary.

He designated Wilbur D. Wilken, Cleveland attorney, as his representative and authorized Wilken to sign the declaration of McAdoo's candidacy for delegates. The telegram will be followed by mail confirmation.

THREE DEAD OF POISON IN SAUSAGE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—After a bitter personal row between Chairman Green and Representative Mills, New York, the house today adopted Green's gift tax amendment designed to stop tax dodging. The vote was 191 to 65. Green's amendment would impose a tax of one per cent on $50,000 gifts increasing to 40 per cent on gifts of $100,000 and over. Gifts to charity are exempt under the amendment.

(By United Press Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—A gift tax to end evasions of the inheritance tax probably will be written into the new revenue bill today by the Democratic-Progressive coalition in the house.

Republican leader Longworth said that it is well known that John D. Rockefeller, Jr., now holds $600,000,000 in Standard oil and other securities, presumably gifts from his father. This is the situation the coalition wants to reach by the new tax.

At the request of Representative Garner, Texas, ranking Democrat on the ways and means committee, Chairman Green will revise his gift tax measure providing the same rates as the inheritance tax adopted yesterday.

Green's amendment provides a one per cent levy on gifts between $10,000 and $14,000, graduated to ten per cent on amounts over $14,000. Garner proposes to start the tax at one per cent on $10,000. If the gift tax can be disposed of today, the excise taxes will be taken up. A bitter fight is expected over the amendment of Representative Clancy, Michigan, to cut in half the five per cent levy on automobile trucks and accessories.

COLD WAVE HITS TEXAS

DALLAS, Texas, Feb. 27.—Texas shivered today in the wake of its biggest snow storm in six years when temperatures went to record low levels in many sections.

Several residences were threatened during the night when fire blazed in the tops of live oak trees, but no damage resulted.

The forestry service turned an anxious eye toward the second blaze, eleven miles distant, which is still sweeping across the mountains from east of Santa Paula, although with diminished fury. The blaze continues to threaten Ojai valley.

Fire fighters from Ojai, Ventura, Santa Paula and Pajaro, are being distributed over a 15-mile area to head off any chance effort of the flames to get out of control.

Because of the seriousness of the fire situation, the forestry service today ordered all fire lookout stations manned until the present drought is ended.

MESSAGES BARE NEW SCANDAL

Hint Big Politician Linked With Case Through Secret Telegrams

FALL GIVEN NEWS BY SPECIAL WIRE

Ex-Secretary Given "Inside" Data on Probe While in Florida

(By United Press Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The name of a big politician, not an official of the government, was drawn into the oil lease scandal when the Teapot Dome committee delved today into telegrams of Edward B. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post.

The identity of the politician was not definitely established in the telegrams, but if he is the man the committee thinks he is, a new sensational story of official intrigue is expected to be revealed.

One member of the committee considered the evidence might prove sufficient to "wreck another political career."

The telegrams were examined by the committee in executive session to trace connections between high officials and former Secretary of the Interior Fall who was a guest of McLean in Palm Beach when the lid was first torn off the scandal surrounding the leasing of the naval oil reserves.

In Close Touch Perusal of the telegrams by the committee also revealed: 1. That Fall, through McLean, was in intimate touch with every thought and action of the investigating committee which was sitting in Washington.

2. That the day Senator Walsh, leading investigator, arrived in Palm Beach to seek evidence from McLean and Fall, the former put in a leased wire from Washington to Palm Beach.

3. That of the hundred or more telegrams sent to McLean and Fall, two thirds of them were considered "pertinent" to the oil scandal investigation and will be made public later.

4. That no member of the investigating committee communicated by Western Union with Fall or McLean.

Seek Leak Source The telegrams were called for in the committee's efforts to learn the source of such suspected "leaks" to persons involved in the oil scandal.

Before the committee went into executive session, Chairman Lenroot made the following statement: "The chair will state that the reason the committee is going into executive session is to enable the committee to determine which of these telegrams are relevant and those which are not. Those which are relevant will be read in public session."

Before the meeting Walsh said he had no present intention of summoning Attorney General Daugherty for questioning about his dealings in Sinclair oil stocks.

Lenroot indicated no more would be made in this direction until after the examination of brokers' books had been completed.

Call Sinclair Man Walsh also announced he had no intention of subpoenaing Will H. Hays, former postmaster general. Walsh said he had told his clerk to issue a subpoena for G. D. Wahlberg, former private secretary to Harry F. Sinclair, and that he expected Wahlberg to appear tomorrow.

Walsh will be questioned about references he made in previous testimony to a "Mr. Hayes." The committee took it that the "Mr. Hayes" was an employee in the Sinclair office, but, because of recent developments, they wished to make certain of his identity.

Wilton J. Lambert, attorney for McLean, appeared at the committee room, saying he intended later to confer with Walsh.

Action of the committee, ambling the telegrams, closed doors caused excited comment among 100 or more spectators crowded in the hall outside, because of recent reports that two members of the committee might have been authors of the same big stack of messages to Fall and McLean.

Tomorrow the committee will ex-

According to the girls, an overheated electric light came in contact with a strip of the combustible film, starting the blaze. Two recently completed pictures were destroyed. Little damage was done to the building or equipment, the flames being extinguished by the studio fire department.

PROMISE NEW OIL INQUIRY SENSATION

amine files of the Postal telegraph company.

Will Publish Telegrams.

Open hearings will not be resumed until Thursday, when all the telegrams relating to the inquiry will be made public. The committee took this course ostensibly to protect any of the irrelevant personal matters of those mentioned from becoming public information.

Some of the telegrams to McLean were in code and these related especially to McLean's finances and business. The committee does not intend to go into McLean's finances, except that evidence which might tend to indicate he did not have $100,000 at the time he says he wrote checks in that amount for Fall. A few of the telegrams related to McLean's efforts to arrange certain personal loans.

Several new "leads" were developed from the telegrams, but members of the committee could not yet estimate their importance.

It also was developed how McLean came to tell the committee that he had given Fall checks for $100,000 which were later returned and destroyed without cashing. This story, a committee member said, would "prove exceedingly interesting."

Opinions Differ.

There is a difference of opinion as to whether the telegrams could be considered "sensational," Senator Adams, Colorado, Democrat, who sat in the hearing, said. One interesting feature of the disclosures was the description of how completely Fall was in touch with every angle of the Washington probe while he was "supposedly in hiding" in Palm Beach.

McLean put in a leased wire from Washington a day or two after Fall came and the intimation given by the committee is that some of the telegrams were handled there.

McLean, however, received continuous private reports from three men who were delegates to sit in on the hearings. He also received communications from Attorney Wilton J. Lambert.

Smith Brothers Make Famous Stomach Remedy

Years ago when the Smith Brothers placed their M. A. C. Stomach Tonic on the market, drug stores throughout the country were literally swamped with preparations alleged by their makers to have great virtue in the treatment of stomach complaints. Today most of those medicines are gone and forgotten, while the Smith Bros. M. A. C. has a bigger sale than ever.

It is the old story of honest merit achieving success in spite of every obstacle. Stomach sufferers who used M. A. C. found lasting relief and told others about it. That's why the demand for this remedy has continued to grow year after year.

Embarrassed by the new treaty between England and the United States and by the successful operations of American prohibition agents, the illicit liquor men who have been working on a large scale have abandoned the Bahamas and moved to Europe.

The biggest organization, which is controlled by a ship broker known as "Captain Candid," has established headquarters in a Limehouse saloon, where arrangements are made for the shipment of thousands of gallons of liquor to America.

He did not seem to be of a melancholy disposition, nor a man who would commit suicide. The couple had several children, but how many I do not know. He was between 35 and 38 years old."

Coroner Charles D. Brown was today making efforts to communicate with Mrs. Rubien. No such report was made, so far as is known.

Violence Suspected. Accordingly, Brown went to the conclusion that it was an accident, Rubien at have been riding the red brake-beams under the train and fallen from that position to his death.

This explanation, however, appeared unlikely, in view of Rubien's apparent business and fraternal connections. A man in his seeming circumstances would scarcely be leading the life of a vagrant, it was considered.

The suicide theory appeared more plausible. If deliberately planned, it might have been executed by Rubien without knowledge of the train crew, it was admitted. Communication with Mrs. Rubien. It was expected, would throw light upon the probability of such an act.

The theory of criminal violence also kept its place in official consideration of the case. The train that struck Rubien was thought to have been the early morning passenger, bound from San Diego to Los Angeles. In the darkness a prone body on the track would have escaped notice, it was held. Indications were plain that the body had been dragged from the south to the north. It was between the rails.

That Rubien might have been robbed, or attacked for some other motive and then left unconscious or dead on the track was viewed as quite possible, in view of the irreconcilable features of the accident theory. His purse was found to contain but a few cents. A cursory investigation of the vicinity, however, failed to reveal any clues that would support this theory.

Arrangements for the inquest were being delayed by Coroner Brown pending his efforts to communicate with Rubien's widow.

War Bride Sues For Divorce As Mate Re-enlists

HOBOKEN, Feb. 25.—A wartime romance and marriage between a pretty Jersey girl and a soldier from Kentucky was shattered when Chancellor Walker of the New Jersey chancery court granted Mrs. Emma Ryan a decree of divorce from John A. Ryan, 46 West street, Hoboken, a deserter from the army. Mrs. Ryan contended that she was deserted by her youthful husband almost immediately after the birth of their child in 1919. When the war started Ryan was sent from the south to Camp Dix at Wrightstown, N. J., and while on a furlough, met the West Hoboken girl, whom he married after a brief courtship. His home life, she said, consisted of week-end visits to West Hoboken.

Upon receiving his discharge from the army, Ryan applied for re-enlistment, according to the story of his wife, and, except for a communication now and then, the girl heard nothing from him.

Woman Drowns In River Plunge

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 26.—The body of a woman found drowned in the Passaic river has been identified as that of Mary Ryan, 75 years old, of 492 Broad street. Identification was made by George W. Watson, a relative. The aged woman had been employed in a Newark factory and is believed to have become dizzy on her return from work and fallen into the river.

"A World Beater" "FOLEY'S Cough Medicine is a 'World Beater' for speedy relief," writes Hilton A. Lyre, 206 Evans Avenue, Evansville, Ind. "Last month I was down with a severe cold, and getting worse. I bought a bottle of FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND, and the next night was well and O. K." "If you want a quick, reliable remedy for coughs, colds and hoarseness, insist upon FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND. It has all the curative qualities of pine tar and honey. Sold everywhere."

ALASKA SOON TO SUPPORT HERSELF

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Alaska will soon be feeding herself.

It is the hope of the United States department of agriculture to make the soil of this region produce in great abundance so that much of the food now imported may give way to home-grown products of better quality and freshness.

Experiments are being carried on, the department stated, with different breeds of cattle. Hogs are now being bred and raised successfully. Hardy dairy breeds of cows soon will be developed, giving the Alaskan population a good fresh milk supply.

Hardy strains of small grains do well in the interior in most growing seasons, according to the report, and when made useless by the elements as food for human beings may be made into hay or silage.

Winter feed is a big problem for Alaska farmers, but the silo is helping them solve it. Oats, with peas or vetch, make good silage as well as some of the native grasses, especially wild rye and a tall sedge, the report stated.

"Alaska produces as fine potatoes as can be found in any country," says the report, "and they are successfully grown in all parts of the Arctic Circle, in favorable seasons."

Improved hardy varieties of potatoes have been developed and are being grown. Strawberries have been developed to a commercial scale. Currants, gooseberries and raspberries are also successfully growing, the report states. Roses also are being introduced to beautify the country, a Japanese rose thriving the best in all parts of the territory, the report stated.

TELLS JURY OF TRESPASS GUN PLAY VIEW

Testifying that when he left his car to visit a melon patch while crossing the Carmichael ranch near Laguna Beach a volley of rifle bullets began to whistle about his ears, Edward Newman was the first witness called today at the trial of Montre Mays, ranch custodian, who is charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

Newman said that he and his father were driving across the ranch and had received permission to sample the melons. The bullets, he said, drove him back to the car and continued to fly after he had resumed his journey, one shot penetrating the car, he said.

Mays is charged with firing the shots. He was said to have been left in charge of the ranch with orders to keep trespassers away. His trial was held at 10 a. m. today before a jury in Superior Judge Z. B. West's court.

Members of the jury were: C. O. Heim, F. B. Dunham, J. P. Wein-schenck, J. W. Young, W. A. Dyer, W. E. Askin, Robert J. Pye, W. D. Johnston, George McNeil, J. T. Wilson, C. W. Beam and George Grant.

Canadian Doctor

Claims Religion

Is Suicide Cause

HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 26. — Personal religion inspired by the sentiment in such hymns as "When the Roll is Called Up Yonder, I'll Be There" and "There Will Be Glory for Me," has been the cause of an increase of suicides and insanity, Dr. Richard Roberts of Montreal, Can., declared.

During the World war, he said, this increase was stopped for a time, but again it is in evidence.

"This shows that a man needs something to think about besides himself," said Dr. Roberts. "It is the duty of the church to provide that something else."

She said that in the evening there would be no formal program beyond the rendition of selections by an orchestra.

The services which were conducted by the Rev. F. E. Tisdale, pastor of the church recently organized by colored people of the community, were largely attended and a number of beautiful floral offerings attested the esteem in which Mr. Porter was held.

Mr. Porter had been a resident of this city about fifteen years, coming here from Kansas of which state he was a native. He worked for a number of local merchants and residents as janitor and was regarded as a valued, efficient and trusted employee.

Pallbearers at the Santa Ana cemetery, where interment was made, were Willis Duffy, James McDonald, John Wilson, J. Eley, Wm. Jones and W. B. Valley.

Justice Attacks

European Books

Brought to U. S.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26. — Certain American book dealers are bringing the sewage of European literature to the United States and thereby imperilling America's morality, the highest and purest of the world, Justice Ford of the supreme court told the Young Folks' league of the Ohio Zedek at a meeting in the Hotel Ansonia.

Justice Ford said the recent campaign against debasing plays in American theaters has had a salutary effect, both on the public and the producer, but added that an indecent play, limited as it is to the number of persons it reaches, cannot compare with a lewd book, since millions can easily get such a book.

Justice Ford paid a tribute to American writers, saying that the greater percentage of them write clean books.

The girls fled from Sonyea and arrived in Rochester the next morning. They engaged Lipson to take them to Seneca Falls, where the mother of one girl lives. The mother, however, advised the girls to return to Sonyea and notified officials of the colony.

The girls returned to Rochester and spent Monday night here, according to deputy sheriffs.

$50,000 BALM DEFENSE BARS FAIR JURORS

Selection of a jury occupied the entire morning session today at the trial of Mrs. Cynthia Englesby's $50,000 damage suit against the Pacific Electric railway, which was held in Superior Judge R. Y. Williams' court here.

Attorneys Allen and Lyon of Fullerton, satisfied themselves easily with the jurors and exercised no peremptory challenges, but defense counsel, though finding no grounds for challenging for cause, started veeing out women occupants of the jury box with peremptory challenges.

Accordingly, it was not expected that any witnesses would be summoned before this afternoon.

Mrs. Englesby's damage suit was based upon alleged injuries sustained when she was thrown from a Pacific Electric car while trying to alight at the La Habra station. The car started suddenly while she was on the steps, she alleged.

The defense, in its answer, contended that Mrs. Englesby, herself, was to blame for the accident and alleged that she waited until the car had started before she tried to get off.

FUTURE COUNTY WATER SOURCE TO BE AIRED

A solution devising some real means for conserving Orange county's future water supply for domestic and irrigation purposes, anxiously awaited by members of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county who will hold their monthly meeting at Orange tomorrow, Wednesday night, may be suggested it was learned here today.

The welfare of the entire county is said by some to rest on this vital issue, and the report of the water conservation committees of the Associated Chambers is expected to offer some plan for obtaining immediate action. Conserving of all available water to tide over one or more dry seasons and which would enable farmers to secure the water supply necessary for the prosperity of this section, was expected to be recommended.

To Boost Orange Show

Dr. George P. Clements, manager of the agricultural department of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, will make the principal address of the meeting.

"The Fourth Annual California Valencia Orange show and What it Means to Orange County," will be the subject of an address by Herman Stern, chairman of the board of directors of the show.

It is the intention of the board of directors of the great citrus fruit exhibition this year to emphasize more than ever before the Annual Orange show is one of the stellar attractions of its kind in Orange county, and that it is essentially an Orange county institution, in which all of the cities and centers of the county will be asked to participate.

Experiment Station
As a first step in this direction Dr. J. D. Thomas, president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce, has been invited to serve on the advisory board, as will other Orange county men prominent in the citrus industry, but the civic and educational organizations. Stern will outline tentative plans for this year's event. These will show the board of directors, composed of Stern, Sid Prince and C. E. Harbeson, have planned a larger show than ever before attempted in Anaheim.

A committee also will report on the possibility of obtaining a state university experiment station in Orange county, it is stated. The meeting will be preceded by a dinner at 6:30 o'clock at which the chamber members and their ladies are invited. This affair will be held in the Masonic hall in Orange. E. E. Barr, Orange vocalist, will entertain the diners. It is said.

MAY ABROGATE PAVING REPAIR EDICT HERE

The city council today had under consideration rescission of its action of Monday night of last week, when it adopted a resolution declaring that public utilities tearing up pavement must make replacement with the same type of material used in the original pavement.

J. C. Hayden, district manager for the Southern Counties Gas company, declared to the board that it would be impossible to make a satisfactory replacement on streets where concrete base and asphalt surface was used. He said it is impossible to effect a satisfactory union between hot and cold asphalt.

Protests Made.
 Replacement by using all concrete was more satisfactory, and the work was more permanent, he added. The council members were inclined to agree with him.

It was explained by Councilman George McPhee, who was author of the motion of last meeting, that property owners on streets paved with concrete base and asphalt surface had complained because the original type was not used in replacements. Discussion indicated that the city body would rescind its action tonight or at the following meeting.

A request by T. E. Stephenson, postmaster, for permission to locate a flag pole on the sidewalk in front of the post office was referred to Councilman C. H. Chapman. The postmaster proposes to substitute the flagpole for the post office sign now standing at the curb. The sign would be attached to the flag pole.

To Repair Pipe Line.
 The street department was directed to repair Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company's pipe line broken in the grading of Oak street. Investigation disclosed that the company has a perpetual right of way over the street for its line. Stockholders who have been getting water through the line have been without the service, it was reported at the meeting.

Resolutions were adopted approving plans and specifications and declaring it the intention of the council to pave Fifteenth street, French street to Broadway, and Highland avenue, Flower street to Bristol. Proceedings were ordered for paving Roe drive.

Petitions were filed for paving East Bishop street, from Oak street to the Pacific Electric tracks; Valencia street, from Seventh to Twentieth, and Twentieth, from Spurgeon street to Santiago street; Valencia and Twentieth streets are to be paved with five-inch asphaltic concrete and Bishop with cement concrete.

Dr. Walter F. Dexter, president of Whittier college, has been secured to deliver an address on "Community Co-operation" at the annual dinner meeting of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, which will be held at St. Ann's Inn Thursday, March 6, J. C. Metzgar, secretary of the Chamber, announced today.

Dexter is the man who staged the $100,000 dinner recently at the Ambassador hotel in Los Angeles for the benefit of his college.

The annual reports of the officers and committee chairmen will be submitted, it is expected. Tickets for the event are now on sale at the Chamber, and Metzgar urges all members to make early reservations as the accommodations are limited, he said.

Drive Is Planned to Roundup Crooks

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—In its relentless battle against bandits and crooks this year, the American Bankers' association will not only employ its own effective weapons, but will also ask for a large measure of co-operation by the various legislative bodies throughout the country. It will seek to simplify the process of proving guilt of an offender against the banks, either in the form of violent robbery or of swindling.

King Unrecognized At Paris Movie

PARIS, Feb. 26.—An unpretentious movie house on the Paris boulevards had royal patrons the other evening, but didn't know it. Albert, king of the Belgians, and his daughter, accompanied by Consul General Bastin, dropped into a theater to while away an hour between trains while en route from Brussels to the French Alps.

Probe Plan to Alter Sewer On W. First St.

Walter Wray, superintendent of the water department, and W. G. Knox, city engineer, are engaged in investigations to determine changes in the sewer line that would relieve the First-street line of some of the volume of sewage it is carrying, the former told the city council last night.

While stating that definite decision had not been made as to the best plan for relieving the First street line, Wray said that he thought best results possibly would be obtained by diverting to lines on Polinesia and South Main street and by throwing some of the volume to the main outfall by way of McFadden street.

May Charge For 'Hard' Substance Dumped, Is Rule

Dumping of brick, cement blocks, rocks and other hard substances accumulating in the city cannot be made at the city's dump grounds on West Fifth street, it was revealed to the council last night by investigation of the contract held with Harper brothers, parties for taking care of rubbish.

The brothers, however, have the right to grant anyone the right to dump such material on their property and make a charge for it. This information was brought to light following complaints that a charge is being made for the privilege of dumping such materials at the dump grounds.

Pretty Girl Is Victim of Amnesia

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Feb. 26.—Walking calmly into police headquarters here, an attractive young woman, startled detectives by declaring she didn't know her name, age, where she came from, how she got in Syracuse or anything else about herself. It is the strangest case of apparent amnesia to come to the attention of police in years, and there are some features of it which caused detectives to investigate close the girl's story.

Guide Vessels by Radio and Water Sounding Devices

LA JOLLA, Feb. 26.—Apparatus is being installed at the Biological institute for a combined radio and water sounding instrument which will be one of a chain to be placed along the Pacific coast to guide vessels in time of heavy fog or storm.

About 2000 feet of cable is being laid on the bottom of the ocean, the end of the cable forming antennae for picking up sounds.

The sounds carried along the cable are received from the antennae at a land station to be placed on the pier at the institute and the exact position of the ship determined.

The work is only in the experimental stage as yet and is being conducted by the United States coast and geodetic survey department. Other stations are being installed at Oceanside and San Juan Capistrano.

By exploding a bomb under water and receiving in reply the exact location of the three stations it is expected the navigator will be able to determine exactly the longitude and latitude of his ship.

Dill Is Sarcastic On Pole Flight to Discover New Land

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Senator Dill, who protested against the flight of the dirigible Shenandoah to the north pole because of the risk involved, heaped satire on the plans of the navy to plant the American flag on a new continent north of Alaska.

Dill said that if the navy's program was carried through, Admiral Moffett would become a "modern Columbus."

As names for the new continent, Dill suggested "Denby's Domain," "Moffett Land" or "Coolidge Land," because it was "cold and silent."

Senator Neely, Democrat, of West Virginia, suggested that oil might be found in the north "to make up for that sold or given away by ex-Senator Fall," while Senator McKellar, Democrat, of Tennessee, ironically nominated Fall for governor general of the new territory.

Man Dies in Blaze After Saving Dog

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Running down two flights of stairs when his seven-story warehouse at 439-445 East One Hundred and Fifty-ninth street took fire, Annunzio J. Santini, 60, saved a prize police dog and valuable papers, and then fell dead of heart trouble in his office.

SUNSHINE AIDS WAITERS
 LONDON, Feb. 26.—Waiters and waitresses want a change in the English climate. They want more sunshine and less rain. Fred Bramley, secretary of the Trades Union congress, explains that English waiters and waitresses have to live off their tips and that tips are much smaller on rainy days than on sunny days.

COST IS CRUX IN JOINT LINE AGREEMENT

Asserted by individual members of the Santa Ana city council to be attempting to create a condition whereby the municipalities building the joint outfall sewer would be asking for a change in building plans, instead of himself, L. DeWaard, the contractor, tonight was to face an adjourned meeting of the Santa Ana solons, in an attempt to work out some sort of agreement.

DeWaard appeared last night before the Santa Ana city council, authorized by the other three to proceed with the matter, and asked for authorization to proceed with construction work on a line different from that designated in the specifications, the completing work to be done at added compensation.

Says $83,000 Spent
 He declared the contracting firm already had spent $83,000 on work it had contracted to do for approximately $44,000. His firm had done all the work it was humanly possible to do under the original contract, he added.

The council advised DeWaard, however, that he should file a written request for authorization of the change, adding that it would grant the request then only on condition that the uncompleted work be finished on the unit basis of the original contract. The change in the course at the ocean end of the line had been made at the request of the contractors, not the cities, the solons agreed.

Attorney to Report
 Permission to make the change in the line involves rather a fine point, as it would be equivalent to a change in the contract, itself, the councilmen stated. The contractors then might have the privilege of charging on the cost plus basis, they maintained, unless the cities and the contractor had a definite understanding, in written form, regarding the future expenditure to be made.

A communication sent last week by DeWaard, stating his desires to complete the work, but asking a "fair consideration" was referred to Attorney Bishop, counsel for the joint councils interested. His report on the suggested move was to be made at the meeting tonight.

Wedding Anniversary

Honored By Dinner
With Son As Host

In carrying out what has come to be an established and very delightful custom, Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Taylor of this city and Judge and Mrs. F. H. Taft of Santa Monica on Sunday, February 24, celebrated the wedding anniversary which they share in common.

Discovering a number of years ago that they each had chosen February 24 as a wedding date, the two couples have since alternated as hosts when that date occurred. This year the Tafts were to be entertained in this city and in response to their hosts' invitation arrived Saturday to spend the weekend.

However the question of entertaining was settled by Fred H. Taylor, son of the senior Taylors, who with Mrs. Taylor planned a most charming dinner at St. Ann's Inn in honor of their parents and friends.

Assembling at the Inn at midday the party composed of the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Taylor, their honor guests, Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Taylor and Judge and Mrs. Taft, together with Miss Charlene Welch of Santa Monica, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Marker and daughter, Miss Elizabeth Marker, of Downey, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stewart and sister, Miss May Stewart, and Miss Sarah Buckman of Freeport, Illinois, Mr. and Mrs. Harwood Sharp of this city. Miss Marguerite Taylor and Philip Taylor of the home, all found places at a beautifully adorned table where the delectable dinner was served in courses.

The Robert Taylors and Miss Stewart and Miss Buckman are winter guests in the Southland and have a pleasant apartment in Los Angeles.

After an afternoon of sociability the party broke up with the return to Santa Monica of the Judge and Mrs. Taft who on February 24, 1925, will be hosts at the celebration event.

Mystery Surrounds

Ebbel Card Party

As Thursday, February 28 approaches bringing the date chosen by Ebbel's second section. Household Economics for the big bridge party at the home of Mrs. Leonard G. Swales on North Broadway, those planning to be present are becoming more deeply interested because of the air of mystery which seems to surround the question of prizes.

Ask any section member just what the prizes will be and it is said that she at once assumes a mysterious air and answers enigmatically, "Oh something that will please the men of the family immensely." The question in the minds of the prospective guests is, what prize is it that will delight a woman and yet please a man immensely? And their minds, playing restlessly among sofa pillows, boudoir cushions, scented compacts, and kindred frilly things, shy frantically from thoughts of cigarette cases, smoking sets and similar masculine gifts.

It was announced today that in addition to the principal prize for high score, table prizes would be given also. The tables have been in high demand among friends of the section and the entire twenty were subscribed for many days ago. Holders of cards to the affair are asked to note the fact that the Swales home is at 2115 North Broadway rather than at 2015 as indicated by the cards.

Business Women's Club

Gathering again for luncheon at St. Ann's Inn yesterday after an absence of two weeks, the members of the Professional and Business Women's club enjoyed a delightful meeting, with a goodly number present.

During the luncheon, Miss Melvina Frye pleased with two humorous and well-rendered readings, "An Embarrassing Situation," by Mark Twain, and "My Rival," by Rudyard Kipling.

Mrs. O. M. Robbins, the "club mother," was present and was given a cordial welcome, as mother of the president, Miss Doris Robbins.

The committee for March was announced as Miss Martha Whitson, chairman; Mrs. Olive Lopez, the Misses Beth Phillips, Mary Smart and Esther Carr.

A letter of greeting from Miss Genevieve Humiston, a former member of the club, who is now teaching at Wasco, was read by the president.

Cooked Food Sale

Saturday morning, March 1 at 10 o'clock the northwest section of the Christian church Aid society will open a cake and candy sale at the east grocery store of the Gerrard brothers on East Fourth street.

Housewives desiring delicious cakes for Sunday dinners are assured that their wishes will be gratified at the sale, for which the best cooks of the church have prepared cakes and candy.

A few friends met for a birthday surprise at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Kincaid on East Third street Friday evening.

As Mr. Kincaid is a Spanish War veteran and his birthday falls on February 22, everything was carried out in the patriotic colors, the house being decorated with red, white and blue flowers. Refreshments in the same color scheme were served and the honoree decided he wanted birthdays several times a year.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Byers, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Camp and son Arnet of Orange, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Botkin, and Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Dresser.

News Notes of Interest To WomenElectrical Feats Are

Deeply Interesting
To Ebbel Members

With the possibilities of obtaining life membership in the Santa Ana Ebbel society only announced since the February meeting of the executive board, it was discovered yesterday at the usual monthly meeting of the society, that the quota of fifty had been filled, with many others expressing a deep interest and the hope that the limit might be extended.

The measure, it was explained by Mrs. Angus J. Crookshank, Ebbel president, was purely an emergency one and while life memberships might be available to club members at some future date, never again would the opportunity come to obtain them for the nominal sum of $100 such as was the case in this initial movement. The necessity of securing funds to complete the auditorium and the new clubhouse without the necessity of going into debt at present, brought the suggestion of life memberships from an executive board member and that the suggestion met with the approval of other members was shown by the quick response from the society as a whole.

This was but one of the many interesting business matters treated at yesterday's session at the Temple theater. Mrs. Robert G. Tutill was welcomed to her place as recording secretary after an extended absence in the north during which time her duties were capably assumed by Mrs. L. C. Fairbanks, corresponding secretary.

The session opened with community singing led by Mrs. Herbert Sammis with Miss Leonora Tompkins at the piano. In Mrs. Crookshank's little greeting talk, she expressed the gratitude of the society to the different persons for aid extended in business matters. Among them, Attorney S. M. Davis was mentioned particularly for the aid and legal advice which had saved the clubwomen both expense and trouble.

Following her announcement that Mrs. W. L. Deimling and Mrs. J. E. Paul had been asked to serve on the flowers and fruits committee in preparation for the biennial in Los Angeles in June, Mrs. Crookshank asked the members to plant flowers with that in mind so that they might aid the committee when the need arose. In connection with biennial plans, previous action of the club to send a contribution of fifty cents a member to the entertainment fund of the biennial was reconsidered and a decision reached to send $100 as the share of Santa Ana Ebbel club. This was deemed all that was necessary in view of the fact that the pro rata payment was not obligatory but was merely a courtesy which the hostess clubs of Los Angeles were asking of other clubs of the state. It was suggested that at succeeding meetings members would be prepared to pay a quarter each at the door as they left the auditorium, and the sum thus raised would materially lessen the amount necessary to take from the treasury at a time when every cent is needed.

With two members of the executive board, Mrs. L. C. Fairbanks and Mrs. Hervey T. Trueblood already named for membership on the nominating committee, Mesdames C. F. Crose, P. A. Robinson and Dr. Mabel Vance Tremaine were elected from the floor. Mrs. Edward M. Nealey spoke briefly on the membership and asked that all conspire to bring the number up to the limit of 500 exclusive of the fifty life members.

Through the courtesy of W. L. Deimling, district manager of the Southern California Edison company, a unique entertainment was presented in the form of the "Edison Road show" under the direction of L. S. Peterson. This combined an informative lecture on electricity, its discovery, development and future, a series of pictorial shows showing the company is developing in the San Joaquin valley and the high Sierras, some interesting X-Ray pictures and finally a group of unique experiments with electricity which left the audience almost breathless with awe. The little group of entertainers was formed of men in the employ of the company as electrical engineers. Their talent for entertaining was discovered when they performed their various feats before some of the company's social clubs.

Included in their repertoire which many feasts fit the equal of acts popular on vaudeville and lyceum circuits. An unfortunate lack of time made it impossible to include these in yesterday's program.

Nevertheless it was one of the most interesting afternoons of the club year and the assembled clubwomen were united in their expressions of appreciation for Mr. Deimling's courtesy in offering the feature as a gift of the Edison company.

Happy Family Reunion

Follows Arrival of Canadian Guests

With all their children gathered together beneath the home roof for the first time in twenty years, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Allen of 111 Bush street were the happy hosts at a family party over the week-end when their two sons and wives and their daughter were greeted.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Allen of Stratford, Canada, arrived at the Santa Ana home of their parents the middle of last week and on Saturday Mr. and Mrs. John H. Allen arrived from Oxnard and Miss Agnes Allen came out from Los Angeles to join her parents and brothers. C. H. Sterling of this city and Long Beach was the sole member of the party not bound by ties of blood to others of the group.

It will be remembered that the senior Allens celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last June when they were honor guests at the home of their son John in Oxnard. It was matter for regret at that time that the James A. Allens were unable to come from their Canadian home for the event but the regret was softened by their promise of a winter visit. The fulfillment of that promise has brought much happiness to the home and the Canadian visitors plan to remain in the Southland for five months or more, dividing their time between Santa Ana, Oxnard, Los Angeles and other Southern California cities.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Allen, parents and hosts, will in March, celebrate the sixteenth anniversary of their arrival in Santa Ana to establish their home.

Dutch Whist Offers

Entertainment to Friendly Group

One of the pleasant end of the week affairs marked by an attractive use of the Washington's birthday motif in decorations was the party which Miss Margaret Robertson presented Saturday night at her home, 1317 North Main street.

Adding to the pleasure of the guests was the presence of Miss Robertson who was home from Pomona college for the Washington's birthday holiday and who assisted her sister in greeting the guests as did their mother, Mrs. Mary G. Robertson.

Dutch whist was introduced as the amusing game of the evening and its rapid change in form and rules offered much entertainment. As the evening drew to a close the hostess arranged the tables attractively for serving a delectable little midnight supper of fruit salad with whipped cream, coffee, rolled sandwiches in cherry-log form tied with tri-color ribbon, and accompanied by small chocolate hatchets as favors.

Enjoying the affair were Messrs. and Mesdames Frank Lincoln, Fitz Gibbs, Harold Smith, Tom Smith, Meredith Finley, William Jones, Fred Householder of Los Angeles, C. B. Shaver of Fullerton, Mr. Orlo Householder and the members of the home group, Mrs. Robertson, Miss Grace Robertson, Miss Mabel Robertson and the hostess, Miss Margaret Robertson.

Monday Club

At last night's open meeting of the Monday club with Fred Rafferty at his East Tenth street home, a delightful program was presented by Ernest Crozier Phillips who introduced three members of his drama class at the high school. They were Miss Ethel Smallwood, Miss Margaret Cotant and Norman Pixley who gave a most enjoyable one-act play.

Mrs. Ernest Crozier Phillips then read different interesting episodes from the John Drinkwater play, "Abraham Lincoln." A social evening followed the program.

CLUB ORCHESTRA PLAYS FOR KFAW

Grigsby's Club orchestra, under the direction of Alan Smith, played at The Register studio last night for KFAW's audience. Their program was made up of the late popular dance hits and each one was rendered with a smoothness denoting much study and many hard rehearsals.

Features of the evening were the playing of two special arrangements by Alan Smith—an orchestral arrangement of "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise" and "O Sole Mio" arranged for three saxophones. Both of these numbers went over big.

The snappy program offered was made up of these eleven numbers:

"Some of These Days," "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise," "Two Time Dan," "I Love You," "O Sole Mio," "Howard White," "Fred Krastel and Alan Smith, saxophones," "Lovey Came Back," "Salt Your Sugar," "Easy Melody," "Song of India," "Remembering," and "Stack o' Ten Blues."

"NAME THE MAN" OPENS AT WALKER TODAY
 "Name the Man!" the first Victor Seastrom production since that director came to the Goldwyn studios from Sweden, opened today at Walker's theater.

Included in the cast are Conrad Nagel, Mae Busch, Patsy Ruth Miller, Hobart Bosworth, Creighton Hale, DeWitt C. Jennings, Evelyn Selbie and many other well-known players.

The story was adapted to the screen by Paul Bern, from the novel entitled, "The Master of Man," by Sir Hall Caine, and was Victor Seastrom's first production under contract to the Swedish director signed with the Goldwyn studios.

The entire story is set on the Isle of Man, and deals with the youthful Deemster, or judge of the island, and the trial of the girl whom he had wronged for the murder of her child.

The picture is declared one of the most dramatic and emotional ever filmed, and in it Miss Busch and Mr. Nagel rise to their greatest emotional heights.

The picture was enthusiastically acclaimed by critics and public, and had long runs at large theatres in New York, Los Angeles, Chicago, San Francisco and other of the largest cities in the United States.

NOVEL BANDIT RING BROKEN UP BY POLICE

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—A scheme of truck robbery on as large and systematic a scale as ever had been attempted in New York is believed to have been broken up with the arrest of six men on the charge of grand larceny.

The prisoners were charged with stealing trucks loaded with merchandise while the drivers were at lunch, with transferring the goods to other trucks and with storing them in a Brooklyn warehouse until they could sell it at market prices, instead of disposing of them at any price to "fences," as is done with most stolen goods. According to the police, the warehouse feature of the scheme explains what has happened to much of this kind every year in New York.

One of the prisoners is Charles Goldberg, of 1135 Fifth avenue, Brooklyn, lessee of a warehouse at Fifth street and Bedford avenue, Brooklyn. Others are Gustav Henry, who has a piece goods store at 606 Fifth avenue, Brooklyn, and Solomon Roginsky, of 30 Throop avenue, Brooklyn, who has a store at 113 Eldridge street, Manhattan.

Three truckmen on list. Three truckmen complete the list. They are Samuel Humman of 51 Willard street, and Louis Klemperer of 103 Harway avenue, Brooklyn. According to the police, the Hummans were out on bail on another truck robbery charge.

Detectives Dowling, Hammill, Tracy and Sullivan of the truck squad were assigned by Inspector Coughlin to investigate reports of a mysterious 10-ton "bulldog" truck which had been seen hovering around lower Manhattan. The detectives followed the truck around Manhattan and Brooklyn and say they saw it take a load of woollens, worth $6000, from the warehouse to the store at 113 Eldridge street and that the woollens had been stolen from a truck at Twenty-third street and Eleventh avenue. They also say that they saw the truck take a load of men's clothing, worth $4000, which had been stolen from a truck in front of 738 Broadway from the warehouse to Henry's store.

Police Watch Transfers. The police watched these transfers from the warehouse to the stores without interference, as they wanted to catch the gang transferring newly stolen goods to the warehouse. They say they did this yesterday. About 1:10 p. m. Aiken Greer, a truckman, of 75 Central avenue, Montclair, N. J., left a truckload of chemicals, valued at $10,000, belonging to the Vapo Creoline Co., 62 Cortlandt street, in front of a hunchroom at Twenty-third street and Eleventh avenue, while he went inside. When he left the hunchroom the truck had disappeared.

Meanwhile the mysterious ten-ton truck was waiting at Tenth street and Avenue A. A block or so away were the detectives in a police automobile. They watched while Klemperer and young Humman drove up in the stolen truck and transferred the chemicals to "THE OLD FOOL" PICTURE OF REAL PEOPLE.

That the public likes a picture that depends upon a real story of real people was proved by the enthusiastic reception accorded the Outlook Production, "The Old Fool," last night when it opened at the Yost theater for a two-day run.

The story deals with an old Civil War veteran, Grandad Steele, who is considered the burden of the Steele household by everyone except his youngest grandson, Johnny. Johnny refuses to submit to his father's will and goes to Texas to seek his fortune. At the death of his father, his brother wants to put Grandad in an asylum, but Johnny takes him to Texas. How he helps to capture a band of smugglers and save the girl that Johnny loves, is a most thrilling climax.

The cast is a worthy one. James Barrows' portrayal of Grandad Steele is very realistic. Lloyd Hughes is good as the clean-cut grandson, and Betty Francisco is a pretty and capable leading lady. Louise Fazenda as Dolores Murphy and O. V. Harrison as Larry Helms furnish the comedy relief. The rest of the cast lend admirable support.

LON CHANEY FILM OPENS AT TEMPLE TONIGHT.
 For nine years Lon Chaney has been adding to the marvelous collection of appliances he carries about in a box that has grown into a trunk.

Today for the first time since he entered pictures, he is playing a role where he is just Lon Chaney and recognizable as such to all his friends. As "Serafin" in Sam Wood's latest production "The Next Corner," he has done nothing to his face except use the ordinary powder which is necessary for good photography and give a lengthening touch to the side whiskers. In this way he obtains the slight oddity which distinguishes the race in Northern Spain known as Basques.

Featured with Chaney in "The Next Corner," which is due at the Temple theater tonight, are Conway Tearle, Dorothy Mackaill, Ricardo Cortez and Louise Dresser.

CITES PENALTY PROVIDED FOR INCOME TAX
 Taxpayers who are delaying the filing of their returns were warned by Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell that heavy penalties are provided by the revenue act for failure or "willful refusal" to make a required income tax return and pay the tax on time, according to word which A. B. Pilch, deputy district collector of internal revenue, received here today.

For failure to file a return on time a taxpayer becomes liable to a penalty of $1,000 and a further penalty of 25 per cent of the amount of the tax, unless the return is later filed and it is satisfactorily shown to the commissioner of internal revenue that the delinquency was due to a reasonable cause, and not to willful neglect, Pilch said.

For willful refusal to make a return and pay the tax on time, a taxpayer becomes liable to a penalty of $10,000, or one year's imprisonment, or both, together with the cost of prosecution, and a penalty of 25 per cent of the amount of the tax, it was added.

Under a ruling received by Collector Goodcell, when a return is made in good faith and an understatement of the amount of the tax thereon is due to no fault of the taxpayer, no penalty attaches, but interest attaches to the amount of the deficiency at the rate of 6 per cent a year. If the understatement is due to negligence—"absence of reasonable care under the circumstances"—there is to be added 5 per cent of the total amount of the deficiency, together with interest on the amount of the deficiency at the rate of 12 per cent a year from the time the tax was due, or if paid on the installment basis, on the deficiency of the installment from the time the installment was due.

If the understatement is fraudulent with intent to evade the tax, the penalty is a fine of not more than $10,000, and imprisonment for not more than one year, together with the cost of prosecution, and an added assessment of 50 per cent of the amount of the deficiency.

 CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—Canada will make a "friendly" invasion of the United States, with Washington, D. C., as its objective, in July, 1925, when the Macabees with "tents" throughout the dominion sends a huge automobile caravan to its quadrennial convention at the capital.

the ten-ton truck. When the ten-ton truck was driven away, leaving the stolen truck in the street, the detectives followed. At the warehouse they arrested the two men.

L. A. Horse Show Smashes Record

The third annual Los Angeles Horse show is exceeding all expectations of the management and has surpassed the two previous shows by a large margin, according to a statement received here.

"The hundred and forty-one entries are scheduled to appear on the program during the week ending Saturday and to say that the best equine flesh in America is taking part is putting it mild," the statement said.

"Several of the Southern California capitalists have purchased horses well up into the thousands to compete with those of other states that are scheduled to appear."

Defies Age by Using Ordinary Buttermilk to Beautify Complexion

This Pretty Girl Tells Druggists Not to Take Anyone's Money Unless This Delightful New Vanishing Cream Shows a Decided Improvement.

Buttermilk cream creates beauty almost like magic. The most wonderful thing about it is the fact that whilst it turns the dull, most lifeless complexion to radiant beauty and makes red or rough hands or arms snowy white, yet there is not the slightest sign of its use after application. It actually vanishes from sight and the most heated atmosphere will not produce the least shininess or greasiness of the skin.

No matter whether you are troubled with a poor complexion, wrinkles, puffiness around the eyes, freckles, crows feet or lines around the mouth, ugly finger nails, or just a simple roughness of the face, hands or arms caused by wind or sun, you will find that any or all of these troubles will quickly disappear with the use of Howard's Buttermilk Cream. All druggists can supply you. Adv.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, yellow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c.—Adv.

CIRCUS TO AID VET CEMETERY FUND HERE

Frank Rowe, member of Calumet camp, United Spanish War Veterans, under whose auspices Golden Bros. Big Three Ring Trained Wild Animal circus will appear here March 10, today made it clear that the veterans' share of the proceeds would be applied exclusively to their cemetery fund.

"This fund," said Rowe, "is used in cases where needed, to provide proper burial for Spanish War veterans of Orange county, regardless of whether they are members of the U. S. W. V."

Speaking of the circus, Rowe said that Golden Bros. this season had enlarged their show in every department, and their already great list of feature wild animal acts and menagerie made it necessary to add several more railroad cars.

"Today," Rowe continued, "two special trains are required to transport the huge tents, wagons, cages, wild animal dens, elephants, camels, horses, ponies, men and women with the Golden Bros. Big Three Ring Trained Wild Animal circus. There are to be found the finest living specimens of rare, strange and curious animals."

"A visit to the Golden Bros. menagerie is of far greater educational value than ever will be gained by deepest study of all the books at hand on the subject of natural history. Inside the vast canvas three steel cages for the feature animal acts, in the past few days. They have been persistently denied by the Bulgarian legation in London.

Indian Princess Talks to Pupils

The pupils of Frances E. Willard junior high school recently had the unusual pleasure of listening to an Indian princess, Neawna, of the tribe of the Ojibways. She showed many interesting articles of Indian manufacture, described in a poem the weaving of her own many-colored blanket, sang some Indian songs, and made a strong plea for better understanding and treatment of the Indian, and for his admission to citizenship, under the flag that she honors, the Stars and Stripes.

MAIL ROBBERY CASE MAN IN GUILTY PLEA

Proving earlier reports to be incorrect, it was learned here today that J. Lloyd Findlay, Anaheim man accused of complicity in the $25,000 mail robbery, had pleaded guilty in federal court, Los Angeles.

Findlay's plea of guilty was entered before United States District Judge B. F. Bledsoe, yesterday. It was first reported that he had pleaded not guilty, this causing surprise in view of his reported written confession to postal inspectors. Findlay, who was a mail messenger at Anaheim at the time of the robbery, December 27, was said to have admitted his guilt and to implicated others now facing prosecution.

Pronouncing sentence on Findlay will be postponed, it was said, until after the trial of his three alleged confederates, J. R. Abernathy, former superintendent of schools at Anaheim; Charles R. Wheeler, former money order clerk in the Anaheim post office and J. U. Hemmi, former Anaheim attorney and lately a real estate dealer at Torrance. The trial date has not been set, but it is understood that it will be held during the July term of court. Meanwhile the three co-defendants are at liberty under $25,000 bail each.

According to statements attributed to postal inspectors, about half of the stolen $25,000 has been recovered. To latest find, it was said, was the sum of $5,570 in a valise buried in the back yard at Hemmi's home in Torrance. Hemmi was said to have told the officers where to find the money, explaining, it was said, that Abernathy had given it to him to hide, saying that it was the proceeds of a questionable contract between Abernathy and the city of Anaheim.

According to the secretary, Phillips "will put on a one-act play to do with married life, therefore, very appropriate."

"She'll like it," concludes the secretary.

Prolonged Fasting Benefit to Man, Claim of Varsity

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—Prolonged fasting when not carried to the point of injury from starvation has a beneficial effect upon the digestive system of individuals, the University of Chicago department of physiology reports after extended tests.

"Among the most striking result of fasting, 15 days for men and 30 to 45 days for dogs, is the basal metabolic rate and the secretion of gastric juice for many months after eating is resumed and the body has gained its normal weight," the report said. "The basal metabolic rate is a measure of the power of tissues to consume or burn the food."

The present study of the University of Chicago is said to furnish the first scientific data on the effects of fasting.

47 BIBLE SCHOOL FOLK IN MEETING

Forty-seven officers and teachers of the United Presbyterian Bible school here were present at a pot-luck dinner of the school held last night at the United Presbyterian church. It was described as one of the best attended and most helpful meetings yet held by the school.

A feature was an address by Ralph Smedley, secretary of the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A., in which he touched on the themes of organized Bible classes and their work, advertising and creating a demand for what is offered in the way of instruction, comradeship and inspiration, modern methods for modern times and conditions, and invitations through members rather than through teachers.

Following the address, those present divided into groups for junior young people and adult classes for discussion of problems, encouragements, aims and methods for their respective classes.

Reconvening as a whole school, reports of the conferences were made, but time was too limited in which to take up discussions. Discussions and further reports will be made at the next meeting, it was announced.

JR. CHAMBER HERE IN INITIAL ACTION

The issuance of $250,000 school bonds with which to extend and improve the educational system and facilities of Santa Ana today stood enthusiastically approved as the maiden endorsement of the newly-organized Junior Chamber of Commerce of this city.

At the meeting of the session held yesterday, Dr. Roy S. Horton offered a resolution favoring the bonds and, after emphatic approval had been given by several members in short talks, the favorable vote was taken.

One of the most interesting of the short talks at the session was that of Constable Jesse Elliott. Elliott declared that had a local organization taken sufficient interest in the proposition, Glenn Martin's airplane factory, now employing several hundred expert mechanics at Toledo, O., might have been located in Santa Ana, Martin's home town.

Says Aerial Base Lost
"If there had been an organization of 'live wires,' such as the Junior Chamber, functioning at the time when the selection of a Pacific coast aerial base was made by the government, Orange county would have won the base for Newport harbor instead of letting San Diego 'grab it,'" the constable declared, with emphasis.

Elliott said that three years ago he had been appointed chairman of a committee to look into the feasibility of securing a plot of ground near Santa Ana for a municipal landing field; that he had secured three prospective sites; that "a certain organization had decided to look into the matter," that the project had got no further, and, that in the meantime the government had selected Santa Monica for the aerial base.

Resumes Criminal Career to Save Starving Bride

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Two weeks after he married a girl who forgave his life of crime on his promise to reform, Rocco LaFortuna had to go back to crime to save himself and his bride from starving, he told police.

LaFortuna was under arrest today charged with homicide. Police say he struck Morris German, a pastry store proprietor, on the head and killed him while trying to rob the store.

He married Viola, Colan Dec. 29, but could not find work. He said he tried until he became discouraged and then turned to robbery.

SURROGATE OF TOTS' BRUISES BEING TOLD

Neighbors of the family on Edinger street called official attention to an asserted existing state of affairs. An investigation was said to have revealed that the woman who posed as Mrs. Hatch and who was said to have unmercifully beaten and starved the two Hatch children, was really Mrs. Bertha Phares. Two other young children in the home were disclosed as her own. These were well treated and well fed, while Clyde and Alta, the authorities say, were found in bed, weak from lack of food, and from whippings.

Hatch was taken into custody at the time and his two children were removed to the county hospital, where they remained until their grandparents claimed them. Mrs. Phares and her two children fled to Compton, where they were later located. The mother was brought to the county jail, after leaving the children in her sister's care.

The loss of her own children loomed later, when her husband, Robert Phares of Pomona, appeared and laid claim to their custody in connection with a divorce action. The woman's arrest here had revealed her whereabouts to him, he said.

The president declared further that in Clatsop's band Santa Ana has one of the premier musical organizations of the kind in California and that the musicians and leader were deserving of the earnest support of the Junior Chamber.

The next meeting of the Junior Chamber will be held in Ketter's gold room, beginning at 7 o'clock Monday evening, March 3.

Sick Eagle She Took in Becomes Terror of Home

PASSAIC, N. J., Feb. 25.—The Felician Sisters, who conduct a Catholic orphanage at Lodi, near here, have taken such good care of a sick gray eagle for three weeks that it has grown so powerful, fierce and threatening that the mother superior is begging for help. It looks big enough to fly off with a moderate sized orphan.

It gives piercing screams, shakes its cage with great talons, strikes right and left with its long curved beak and beats its prison with huge wings. If it keeps on growing stronger it is only a question of time when it will wreck its rickety cage.

"It's getting stronger every day," said the mother superior. "We don't know what to do with it. We are afraid to let it go, because it might do harm. We thought at first it was a tame eagle, but now we fear it was a wild one."

"It was sick when it flew in here three weeks ago. But it is apparently well now."

Anybody who presents himself as the owner of the lost eagle will obtain it without producing the bill of sale or other legal proofs of title.

POLICE FOILED AS GIRL BANDIT ROBS STORE

BROOKLYN, Feb. 26.—The elusive bobbed-hair girl bandit was on the job in Brooklyn again, executing a store holdup with all the business-like precision and daring which have marked her earlier calls.

She entered the drug store of Benjamin Jostey, 311 New York avenue, cowed him and his mother with her pistol and slung three purses, worth $155, left a mocking note of challenge to the police, and escaped.

As Jostey handed the girl a box of talcum powder which she had asked for she thrust the gun into his back, with the order to "hurry and get 'em up'."

Forces him to Rear

She forced him into the rear of the store where Jostey's mother, Mrs. Rose Jostey, 65, was sitting. The mother made a start for the girl, who waved her gun menacingly. Jostey cried:

"For God's sake don't shoot her! Take what you want and go. Please."

The girl snapped:

"We know what we want and we'll take it. Another peep out of either of you and you'll stop gassin' forever."

With this she signaled for her male companion to enter. He took the money from the cash register and retreated to a waiting automobile. The girl, ordering Jostey to remain below the partition, began to back out of the store. Jostey ventured to raise his head and was threatened:

"Raise that dome just a couple of inches more and I'll put a hunk of lead in it—right where your brains ought to be."

Jostey promptly obeyed. A moment later as she dropped a note at the end of the counter the girl said:

"Say, this thing's for the bulls. Just tell 'em I left it with my compliments."

She ran quickly to the car, climbed in and was whirled away.

The note, a defiant "souvenir" from the girl who stuck up the other stores in Brooklyn," challenged the police to catch the writer. It was signed, "The girl bandit and her companion."

The girl's appearance last night was said to have weakened the cases against Helen, Quigley, 23, of 236 Eighth street, and Vincent "Apples" Kovaleski, 19, of 336 Seventeenth street, both of Brooklyn. Helen was arrested on suspicion of being the "bobbed-haired terrorist."

ANCIENT TOWN OF INDIANS TO BE RESTORED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Restoration of the centuries old stone cliff dwellings in the Mesa Verde district of Colorado is planned by Dr. J. Walter Fewkes of Smithsonian institution and internationally known ethnologist.

In making public his development project, Dr. Fewkes said that during the coming summer he would resume excavations in the mysterious Pueblo ruins, believed to hold secrets of a strange race that settled there before the thirteenth century. He declared:

"What we shall find this summer is a matter of speculation. The dusty humdrum work of excavating may go on for days without startling discovery. Then suddenly may be found some relic of prehistoric man from which page after page of history may be read."

"Anything of archaeological value may be dug up. Undoubtedly these ruins are rich in remnants of a civilization long since vanished."

It is expected one or more heretofore undiscovered villages of the sun worshippers of antiquity may be uncovered during the summer, when excavating, abandoned in 1922, is resumed.

When funds are available from congress Dr. Fewkes hopes to restore a typical Pueblo village. Several famous cliff houses and a structure christened the "pipe shrine house" will be rebuilt or restored in the Mesa Verde National park.

Dull Colorings This Spring For Milady's Shoes

Spring styles in women's shoes are centered upon low heels, gore patterns, new strap styles, colored kids in conservative hues, with the variations of brown and wood colors leading, according to Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Peterson, who have just returned from the national shoe retailers' convention and style show, held in Chicago February 11 to 14.

Peterson said that they took this style show as their guide in spring purchases. While they placed many orders at the show, they also visited manufacturers in St. Louis, where other purchases were made, he added.

"Business is somewhat slow in the central states," said Peterson. "and manufacturers state that California is their bright spot; that business is best on the Pacific coast. Every manufacturer in the United States was represented at Chicago and the new styles were very pleasing."

Boys Rob 40 Homes 300 Girls Get Gems

RUTHERFORD, Feb. 25.—Scores of braided sweethearts of Rutherford, N. J., schoolboys will receive unexpected calls from police. They will be obliged to surrender rings, wrist watches, bracelets, jeweled combs and other mementos presented to them by 300 swains in short pants.

The terrible boy bandit gang of Rutherford and Lyndhurst fell ignominiously into the toils of the law.

James Bright, 15, and his brother Edward, 11, of Lyndhurst were stealthily proceeding down a Rutherford street late when a policeman, watching them with amusement, noticed they were armed to the teeth with revolvers, knives, chisels and crowbars.

At the police station they confessed they had robbed 40 houses in the last month.

TWO CANADIAN PAPERS QUIT EDMONTON, Alta., Feb. 26.—The Record and the Standard, two newspapers established by adventurous printers in the Peace River district in 1916, has ceased publication, according to word brought here. How they managed to exist for eight years has been a mystery to other publishers, as that region is sparsely settled.

YOUR QUESTION AND ITS ANSWER

QUESTION—"I have been told by one of your patients that you can tell me where I am sick and describe the symptoms without asking questions. If this is true, how is it done?"

ANSWER—Knowing that disease is caused by pressure on spinal nerves, and being thoroughly trained in palpation to detect this pressure, together with a knowledge of Anatomy and Symptomatology that enables us to decide what organ is affected and what symptoms will result from certain pressure, we can locate and describe disease without questioning the patient. For instance, we know that pressure on certain dorsal nerves will cause stomach trouble; that pressure on certain lumbar nerves cause constipation; that a certain cervical impingement will cause headache, etc. etc. The fact that we can locate and describe sickness without first questioning the patient is ample evidence that we work along definite lines.

This department is edited to spread the knowledge of Chiropractic as a method of correcting the real cause of disease. Questions will be answered, in the order received, if addressed to—

SURF BATHING AT BEACH IS BIG MAGNET

Seal Beach Claims No Undertow at Any Time of Year

SEAL BEACH, Feb. 26.—The war against the seals instituted recently by the fishermen of the nearby coast beaches is still waging. The fishermen claim the seals destroy their nets and consume fish in such quantities that they are unable to obtain sufficient supply for the demand of the markets.

Tourists, however, find the seals such an attraction that the residents, especially of Seal Beach, resent the effort to exterminate them.

The seals were on their chosen sand bar in the channel between Seal Beach and Long Beach when the earliest inhabitant arrived and each March bring their baby seals there to teach them the art of swimming. Their first rides are taken on their mothers' backs and they are gradually pushed off into shallow water and then into the depths as they grow proficient.

Both surf bathing and still water bathing are attractions in Seal Beach though jumping the waves has the preference.

The "beach without an undertow" is the safe play spot of numberless children who frolic in the water and dig tunnels in the sand. Not a death by drowning has been recorded against Seal Beach save in one danger zone near the Anaheim Bay bridge where the suction through the channel creates a rip tide.

This spot is protected by danger signs and constant care of the life guards and very few fatalities have resulted.

'CANNED HEAT' GETS MAN IN COUNTY JAIL

FULLERTON, Feb. 26.—D. Starr, traveler and laborer at large, is in the county jail today and will be there for thirty days all because he became overheated and could not recover in time to escape the watchful eye of Patrolman Wood in this city Sunday night.

He was arrested for vagrancy and an additional charge of drinking canned heat was placed against him.

He appeared before Justice of the Peace William French Monday morning and the only excuse he could offer for his condition was:

"I woke up yesterday morning feeling a little cold and blue, so I bought a couple of cans of heat and drank them."

Starr was arrested by Patrolman Woods after that officers said he had watched him solicit alms from several passersby. Police said that he smelled like an alcohol stove that was not functioning properly when taken to the police station.

"I am a working man, your honor," he said, "and have two children in Fresno to support. I do any kind of work."

When Judge French sentenced him to thirty days in the county bastille Starr said:

"Please, Judge, don't send me there. Let me go and get a job. Judge French said that it was his opinion that thirty days in jail would be beneficial to Starr. It would give him time to cool off from the effects of too much heat."

"How does that stuff taste?" French asked Starr.

"It is very cheap, your honor, but does not taste so good," replied the prisoner.

Mrs. Fred Bastady entertained her Sunday school class on the church lawn Saturday afternoon.

New Dry Law Is Proposed For Seal Beach Folk

SEAL BEACH, Feb. 26.—A new city ordinance, designed to hit alleged liquor violators heavier blows than have heretofore fallen to their lot, is before the council for passage. The new law forbids the manufacture or sale of intoxicants within the city limits. Couched in strong terms and providing heavy penalties, the proposed ordinance was given its first reading before the council last week. The need for such an ordinance, patterned after the Wright Act, has been repeatedly urged on city officials because of the influx here of a horde of dry-law violators, whose illegal activities have been difficult to curb. The new ordinance, if passed, will sound the death knell of certain cafes here, it is said.

Comb Used For Permanent Wave Goes Up in Smoke

FULLERTON, Feb. 26.—Miss Florence Randall, a physician director in the schools here, was burned on the head, neck and arm last night when a celluloid comb she was using to put a wave in her hair ignited from a gas jet. In addition to the burns on part of her hair on one side of her head. The accident occurred while Miss Randall was preparing to go to church, it was said.

CHANGES MADE ON PAPERS AT FULLERTON

FULLERTON, Feb. 26.—The staff of the Fullerton Daily Tribune has been increased within the past few weeks by the addition of three employees. M. K. Haas, formerly managing editor of the Fullerton Daily News, has taken charge of the staff of the Tribune as city editor; S. J. Carlson and J. C. Batchman, former advertising manager and solicitor of the News, have been added to the advertising department of the Tribune.

Haas takes the place of M. R. Beeson, former city editor of the Fullerton Tribune, who resigned that position several weeks ago to go to Los Angeles, where he is engaged in public work.

Art Mason formerly of Portland, Ore., is taken charge of the advertising department of the Fullerton Daily News. Both newspapers are covering the field in Fullerton thoroughly and with the advent of new talent both sheets have brightened their appearance to an appreciable degree.

COUNTY SCOUTS GATHER AT BREA

BREA, Feb. 26.—About one hundred Boy Scouts of northern Orange county gathered at the scout camp in Brea Saturday afternoon for field meet. Fullerton troops two, three and four and Anaheim troop one were the guests of the Brea Scouts and Scoutmaster R. E. Lee.

Mr. Teeney of Santa Ana, field secretary of Orange county of Boy Scouts, was also here.

The boys made trails and others followed them, they ran races, had a water boiling contest and other contests.

In the evening the boys cooked their own meals over an open fire. Revival Closes Revival services, which were held by the Baptist mission during last week, were closed Sunday evening. The Baptist mission will organize into a church in the near future. Services will be held in Craig's hall next Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Stout, the evangelistic singers for the meetings held by the Baptist mission, returned to their home in Pasadena, Monday.

Mrs. Jo Smith of South Flower street is ill with the flu.

A party consisting of Harry Roy, Isaac Craig and son, Tommy, spent the week-end hunting in Imperial valley.

Home From Hospital

Miss Elsie Murphy, who was recently operated on for appendicitis at the Fullerton hospital, was brought home Saturday.

Mrs. Joe Moore returned Sunday after spending a week with relatives in San Bernardino.

Miss Thelma Heartfield and Wilbur Proud of La Habra motored to Laguna Beach, Sunday.

NEWPORT BEACH, Feb. 26.—W. C. Spencer has asked that the Chamber of Commerce co-operate with the chamber of Blythe to help build the road between there and Mecca, thus saving about ninety miles on the trip from Arizona. The local chamber also has joined the National Chamber of Commerce and Messrs. Welch and Huston were chosen as delegates to that organization.

Yorba Linda Woman Finds Contentment Among Orange Trees

MISS KATE BARCALOW
Miss Barcalow has comfortable income from her excellent Yorba Linda orange grove.

ORANGE RANCH BRINGS JOY TO WOMAN

YORBA LINDA, Feb. 26.—He who thinks that Southern California is the home only of the oil king, of the multi-millionaire, who owns acres of golden oranges, and of the real estate vendor, should have followed in the wake of the inquisitive news gatherer the other day, and listened to the story told, for surely the golden sunshine of the golden state coming to be beloved and envied by an entire America, offers opportunities not to be duplicated elsewhere.

Lying at the south edge of the best kept, best bearing, Valencia orange ranches in this heart of the Valencia orange district of Southern California, where the "best" ranches are the rule, not the exception, the ranch contains a comfortable four room house, well furnished and most home like, and the entire assemblage is the work of the two hands of one lone woman.

Come From Ohio

Coming to California twelve years ago from Hamilton, Ohio, Miss Kate Barcalow lived for a number of years in Los Angeles, ten years ago buying the 4.11 acres which now comprise her present ranch. At that time the land purchased by Miss Barcalow, like the most of the Yorba Linda tract, was a big barley field, and the purchase price was around $400 an acre.

Eight years ago Miss Barcalow had her ranch set to Valencia orange trees, put in a good irrigation system, and has always kept her grove up to a high standard, as regards fumigation, spraying, cultivation, and irrigation, and as a result, her trees are pronounced by citrus experts to be bearing beyond their age, and her oranges always grade high.

Built Own Home

Four years ago, Miss Barcalow built and furnished her comfortable home, and has since that time made her home in Yorba Linda, where she takes an active part in the work of the Yorba Linda Woman's club, and is a loyal member of the Daughters of Veterans, Julia Ward Howe tent, at Fullerton.

"Do oranges pay?—well look for yourself. All you see, I have made for myself, and no man leaves my ranch, without his check for the work done on my ranch. My grove is self supporting, and I have been very well satisfied with my profits. Of course the closeness of the proven oil fields to my land has increased its value to a great deal, but based on the value of the citrus alone, I have refused a price many, many times the amount I paid, including the improvements, but I have no desire to sell."

I am absolutely independent, and ready to retire from active work any time I wish, assured of a comfortable future, and a protected, well-cared for old age, thanks to no man," said Miss Barcalow.

When questioned as to the joys of single blessedness, over that of the married state, Miss Barcalow replied with a twinkle in her eye: "No, I have no desire to pick lemons, my oranges pay too good a dividend."

BREAD TREE IS CUT DOWN FOR FIRE WOOD

Age Undetermined, Who Planted It Never Found Out

FULLERTON, Feb. 26.—After more than fifty years the only known specimen of the Jacob's Bread tree in Southern California has been turned into firewood.

The tree grew on the property of Robert Corcoran, 761 North Richmond street.

How long it has been there or where it came from is a mystery that will always remain as such.

It is known that trees of this species do not bear fruit until they have attained considerable age and this particular tree has been bearing large crops of the nourishing bread pod for as many years as can be remembered.

The tree is similar to those mentioned in the Bible as supplying food to the Children of Israel during their flight from Pharaoh.

Pods from the tree have been taken to all parts of the United States by tourists who plucked them as souvenirs.

BUENA PARK RANCH DAMAGED BY FIRE

BUENA PARK, Feb. 26.—The fire at the Boisseranc ranch, southeast of Buena Park, about 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning resulted in a considerable loss.

The dairy barn, containing forty tons of hay, was totally destroyed. There were several smaller buildings between the barn and the house. These were on fire before the Buena Park fire department arrived.

Untiring efforts were made to save the house. A bunk house under a tall pine tree was ablaze and the firemen feared that if the tree caught from it, the house would be sure to go, or make it so hot for the men on the roof that they could no longer put water on it.

But the bunk house was put out and the house was saved. The fire department deserves much credit for its good work.

SPECIAL PROGRAM ARRANGED AT MESA

COSTA MESA, Feb. 26.—Pupils of the Spanish-American Boys Institute of Gardena will present a program at the local Community church at the Sunday school and church services Sunday morning. It was announced by Rev. John H. Engle pastor of the church.

The boys have their own program arranged and it is not known just what it will consist. Mrs. Grow S. Brown will give a talk about the Spanish American school during the church service. Mrs. Brown was a foreign missionary for many years and has made an extensive study of the school.

Mr. and Mrs. George Fair are moving into their new home on Eighteenth street this week. They have been living on Newport avenue. Mr. Fair is the local druggist.

The sale of a lot on Eighteenth street has set a mark for business property in this city, it is claimed. George Teaney is reported to have received a consideration of $3500 for his forty foot front lot on Eighteenth street.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. TeWinkle motored to San Bernardino to the Orange show Sunday only to find that it was closed. Mr. TeWinkle reported that all but one of the tents at the show were down when they were there. It is the first Orange show that Mr. and Mrs. TeWinkle have missed for fourteen years.

Seal Beach News

SEAL BEACH, Feb. 26. Anaheim bay proved an attractive place to picnic parties Sunday in spite of the sand storm. Though the bridge was closed to traffic, cars were parked at both ends and there was a constant stream of pedestrians passing over the bridge inspecting the work of the pile drivers. Thirty of the fifty piles have been driven, and by next Sunday the bridge is expected to be open to the public.

Three new residents arrived in Seal Beach this week who will remember this as their first home. They are Dorothy Pascoe, an infant son in the O'Neill home and a baby daughter who is very welcome to Mr. and Mrs. J. Kalen.

Dr. E. W. Reed has taken an office in the Templeman building, where he will also handle the work falling to the secretary of the chamber of commerce.

Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Proctor have rented their house on Tenth street, reserving the south apartment for their own use.

The weekly meeting of the directors of the chamber of commerce will be held as usual Tuesday evening. The first Wednesday in the month has been chosen as the general meeting date.

Mrs. Ray Tucker will spend the week with relatives and friends in Santa Paula.

Lawrence Stallings will leave Tuesday for his home in Boston.

Council Taboos Paving If Royalty is Paid

Patented street paving processes on which royalties are paid will be taboo with the Santa Ana city council. A motion passed last night declared it to be the sense of the city governing body that consideration will not be given to petitions for paving with materials developed under royalty-paying patents.

Street Commissioner Nat Neff informed the board that representatives of such types of work are now in the city and that in all probability attempts would be made to secure petitions for improvements of streets under the patented process.

TEMPERED ASPHALT

When properly laid—it carries the load—Any load wheels will sustain. It is the greatest ally of heavy auto truck traffic.

Its tremendous resistance to load is due to the fact that its Asphalt Binder is tempered with copper in sulphate form.

Willite is standing up while adjoining roads demand constant repairs.

The Maintenance Cost Is Negligible

One WILLITE road has carried over fifteen million tons of the heaviest known traffic load units, with less than three hundred dollars repairs in 4 years.

Its surface is smooth and uniform. When properly laid it is proof against rutting, raveling and waving.

Because its Binder is tempered with copper in sulphate form, it is nearly 300% more resistant against stretching, creeping, shoving, rutting, waving, and penetration downward than plain residual asphalt pavements.

It is the most highly resistant road known against elements of extreme heat and cold—a fact proven by every known test in the coldest, hottest, wettest and driest countries and under heaviest known traffic.

It is Laid Today—Used Tomorrow —Outlasts all other roads

CHAPTER I
A Client for Paul Harley

SOME of Paul Harley's most interesting cases were brought to his notice in an almost accidental way. Although he closed his office in Chancery Lane sharply at the hour of six, that hour by no means marked the end of his business day.

One summer's evening when the little clock upon his table was idly approaching the much-desired hour, Harley lay back in his chair and stared meditatively across his private office in the direction of a large and very handsome Burmese cabinet.

Harley's office was part of an old city residence, and his chambers adjoined his workroom, so that now, noting that his table clock registered the hour of six, he pressed a bell which summoned Innes, his confidential secretary.

"Well, Innes," said Harley, looking around, "another uneventful day."

"Well," replied Innes, laying a card upon the table, "I was just coming in with it when you rang."

Paul Harley glanced at the card. "Sir Charles Abingdon," he read aloud, staring reflectively at his secretary. "That is the osteologist."

"Yes," answered Innes, "but I fancy he has retired from practice."

"Ah," murmured Harley, "I wonder what he wants. I suppose I had better see him, as I fancy that he and I met casually some years ago in India. Ask him to come in, will you?"

Innes retiring, there presently entered a distinguished-looking elderly gentleman upon whose florid face rested an expression not unlike that of embarrassment.

"Mr. Harley," he began, "I feel somewhat ill at ease in encroaching upon your time, for I am by no means sure that my case comes within your particular province."

"Sit down, Sir Charles," said Harley with quiet geniality. "Officially, my working day is ended; but if nothing comes of your visit beyond a chat it will have been very welcome. Calcutta, was it not, where we last met?"

"It was," replied Sir Charles, placing his hat and cane upon the table and sitting down rather wearily in a big leather armchair which Harley had pushed forward.

Sir Charles evidently was oppressed by some secret trouble, thus Harley mused silently, as, taking out a tin of tobacco from a cabinet beside him, he began in leisurely manner to load a briar.

Sir Charles slowly nodded his head, and seemed in some measure to recover confidence.

"Briefly, then," he said, "I believe my life is in danger."

"H'm," said Harley, replacing the tin in the cupboard and striking a match.

"You are naturally anxious for the particulars," Sir Charles presently resumed. "They bear, I regret to say, a close resemblance to the symptoms of a well-known form of hallucination."

With one exception, they may practically all be classed under the head of surveillance."

"Surveillance," said Paul Harley. "You mean that you are more or less constantly followed?"

"I do."

"Anything else?"

"One very notable thing, Mr. Harley. I was actually assaulted less than a week ago within sight of my own house."

"Indeed! Tell me of this," Paul Harley became aware of an awakening curiosity.

"I had been to visit a friend in the neighborhood," Sir Charles continued, "when I am at present attending professionally, although I am actually retired. I was returning across the square, close to midnight, when, unfortunately for myself, I detected the sound of light, pattering footsteps immediately behind me."

"I turned in the very instant that a man was about to spring upon me from behind. He was holding in his hand what looked like a large silk handkerchief."

"I turned and struck out with my stick."

"And then?"

"Then he made no attempt to contest the issue, but simply ran swiftly off, always keeping in the shadows of the trees."

"H'm," mused Harley. "A very alarming occurrence, Sir Charles. It must have shaken you very badly. But we must not overlook the possibility that this may have been an ordinary footpad."

"His methods were scarcely those of a footpad," murmured Sir Charles.

"I quite agree," said Harley. "They were rather Oriental, if I may say so."

Sir Charles Abingdon started. "Oriental!" he whispered. "Yes, you are right."

"Does this suggest a train of thought?" prompted Harley.

Sir Charles Abingdon cleared his throat nervously. "It does, a very confusing train of thought. It leads me to a point which I must mention, but which concerns a very well-known man. Before I proceed I should like to make it clear that I do not believe, for a moment that I am responsible for this unpleasant business."

Harley stared at him curiously. "Nevertheless," he said, "there must be some data in your possession which suggest to your mind that he has some connection with it."

"There are, Mr. Harley, and I should be deeply indebted if you could visit my house this evening, when I could place this evidence, if evidence it may be called, before you. I find myself in so delicate a position. If you are free I should welcome your company at dinner."

Paul Harley seemed to be reflecting.

"Of course, Sir Charles," he said, presently, "your statement is very interesting and curious, and I shall naturally make a point of going fully into the matter. But before proceeding further there are two questions I should like to ask you. The first is this: What is the name of the 'well-known' man to whom you refer? And the second: If not he then whom do you suspect of being behind all this?"

Sir Charles' perplexity and embarrassment grew more and more marked.

"The one matter is so hopelessly involved in the other," he finally replied, "that although I came here prepared as I thought with a full statement of the case, I should welcome a further opportunity of rearranging the facts before imparting them to you. One thing, however, I have omitted to mention. It is, perhaps, of paramount importance. There was a robbery at my house less than a week ago."

"What! A robbery! Tell me: what was stolen?"

"Nothing of the slightest value, Mr. Harley, to any one but myself—or so I should have supposed."

The speaker coughed nervously. "The thief had gained admittance to my private study, where there are several cases of Oriental jewelry and a number of pieces of valuable gold and silverware, all antique. At what hour he came, how he gained admittance, and how he retired, I cannot imagine. All the doors were locked as usual in the morning and nothing was disturbed."

"I don't understand, then."

"I chanced to have occasion to open my bureau, which I invariably keep locked, immediately—I perceived that my papers were disarranged. Close examination revealed the fact that a short manuscript in my own hand, which had been placed in one of the pigeonholes, was missing."

"A manuscript," murmured Harley. "Upon a technical subject?"

"Scarcely a technical subject, Mr. Harley. It was a brief account which I had vaguely contemplated publishing in one of the reviews, a brief account of a very extraordinary patient whom I once attended."

"And had you written it recently?"

"No; some years ago. But I had recently added to it. I may say that it was my purpose still further to add to it, and with this object I had actually unlocked the bureau."

"New facts respecting this patient had come into your possession?"

"They had."

"May I suggest that your patient and the 'well-known' man to whom you referred are one and the same?"

"It is not so, Mr. Harley," returned Sir Charles in a tired voice. "Nothing so simple. I realize more than ever that I must arrange my facts in some sort of historical order. Therefore I ask you again: will you dine with me tonight?"

"With pleasure," replied Harley promptly, "I have no other engagement."

CHAPTER II
The Sixth Sense

PAUL HARLEY stepped into his car in Chancery Lane. "Drive in the direction of Hyde Park Corner," he directed the chauffeur. "Go along the Strand."

Glancing neither right nor left, he entered the car, and presently they were proceeding slowly toward the stream of traffic in the Strand.

"Pull up at the Savoy," he said suddenly through the tube.

The car slowed down in that little bay which contains the entrance to the hotel, and Harley stared fixedly out of the rear window, observing the occupants of all other cars and cabs which were following. For three minutes or more he remained there watching.

"Go on," he directed.

Again they proceeded westward, and half-way along Piccadilly, "Stop at the Ritz," came the order.

The car pulled up at the colonnade and Harley, stepping out, dismissed the man and entered the hotel, walked through to the side entrance, and directed a porter to get him a taxicab. In this he proceeded to the house of Sir Charles Abingdon.

"Mr. Paul Harley?" said the butler, tentatively.

"Yes, I am he."

"Sir Charles is expecting you, sir. He apologizes for not being in to receive you, but he will only be absent a few minutes."

"Sir Charles has been called out," inquired Harley as he handed his hat and coat to the man. (Continued in Our Next Issue)

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26.—Burial of General C. E. Adams, past commander-in-chief of the Grand Army which the body will lie in state, and a military service. General

2 REGION POSTS WOULD HONOR
MR. WILSON

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.— American Legion officials, headed by National Commander John R.
Quinn of California, have made a request that the body of Woodrow Wilson, former President of the United States, commander-in-chief of the American forces during the World war and a legionnaire, be buried in the Arlington National cemetery.
Morgan Keaton, state adjutant of the American Legion in California, made known the request made by National Commander Quinn.
Commander Quinn immediately on being informed of Mr. Wilson's death ordered all national department and post colors to be draped with mourning for a period of thirty days, in honor of the passing of one of its most distinguished members. The former president was a charter member of George Washington post No. 1, the first post organized in the Legion.
In a telegram of condolence to Mrs. Wilson, the Legion leader declared that "the hearts of the men and women of the American Legion beat in profound sympathy with you in your hour of sorrow."
He added that the peoples of the World would ever remember Woodrow Wilson as "the apostle of peace."

Franklin D'Olier, national commander of the American Legion during the last year of the Wilson administration; Gen. James H.
Drain, Washington; Col. H. Nelson
Jackson, Burlington, Vt., and Col.
Thos. W. Miller of Delaware, were chosen by commander Quinn to serve as official Legion representatives at the funeral. A floral offering, presented by the sixty-one departments of the Legion, was laid at the Wilson tomb.
According to the Legion constitution, no post of the organization may be named for a living person, but within twenty-four hours after announcement of Wilson's death, two posts sought to commemorate his name by taking it as their official title. One of these, a newly formed post in Chicago, No. 275 has been authorized by the department of Illinois, and the Turtlet Creek Valley post of the department of Pennsylvania asked authorization to change its name to become Woodrow Wilson post No. 2.

ARREST PHYSICIAN
ON SERIOUS CHARGE

LONG BEACH, Feb. 26.—Dr. Ernest
M. Freeman, prominent physician of this city, was under $5,000 bail today to insure his appearing in court on a complaint charging him with performing two illegal operations.
A. F. Costigan of District Attorney A. A. Keyes' office, who swore to the complaint, said that the arrest of Dr. Freeman is followed by the arrest of several other prominent beach physicians on similar charges.
Several local hospitals are housing a number of women who are victims of illegal medical practice, Costigan declared.

HEART DISEASE
DEATHS ON INCREASE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Death beckons to man through many doors, but the gateway most frequently by Americans is that marked "Heart Disease," census bureau records of the causes of death in recent years show.

In order, the next outstanding causes of death in adults are influenza and pneumonia, tuberculosis, nephritis, Bright's disease and cancer.
Physicians ask of the prevalence of heart disease: "Is this the result of the swift pace of American life?" Sociologists ask:
"Is this not due to the trend away from the healthy, wholesome outdoor occupations to the sedentary ones of urban life? No one has given a satisfactory answer.
Heart disease took 145,495 lives in the United States in 1922, an increase of more than 15,000 over the 139,264 deaths from this cause in 1921. The rate jumped from 157.1 per 100,000 population to 165.7, and lead all other causes of death by a wide margin.

Medical science has advanced several tentative explanations of the recent increase of heart disease, prominent among them that advanced for all major diseases—that is, the fact that more and more people are living to the age when heart weaknesses and other major ailments develop.
Another explanation offered is that the influenza epidemic of the war period carried off a great many persons afflicted with heart weaknesses, so that the rate dropped in succeeding years, only to rise again now.

Two possible explanations seem to be favored above all, however, now. They are, first, that the illnesses of childhood which, until recent years grew apace, left many young hearts and other organs weakened, to succumb now to heart and other diseases; and, second, that as more Americans huddle in cities, living without restraints and among temptations to eat more and loaf more, their resistance to ailments predispos-ing to heart weaknesses is lessened.

Sound Living Remedy
The same is said of influenza and pneumonia and nephritis and Bright's disease. Only education and constant adherence to the tenets of sound living will bring their rates down, doctors say, though they make exceptions for influenza and pneumonia.

Deaths from the latter in 1922 totalled 124,441 against $8,465 in 1921, an increase in rate from 99.8 to 135.5.
Deaths from nephritis and Bright's disease in 1922 numbered 83,518 against 75,616 in 1921, an increase in rate from 85.4 to 88.5.
The dwindling menace of tuberculosis in recent years has been one of the marvels of medical science. Where a decade ago it lead all causes of death with a rate of over 140 per 100,000, science and medicine have beat it down steady-ly, year by year, to 97 in 1922.
In that year, 90,425 persons died of it against 88,135 in 1921.

This successful fight on the dread "white plague" is, in the opinion of many, due entirely to the active campaign waged by national, state and local health boards to improve living conditions, housing and food. Methods of treatment of afflicted persons, of course, have improved, but its prevention, more than any other thing, has cut the rate.

Science is still the mystery of medical science. It continues to flourish, and no one seems to know its origin. There are many explanations, but there is no general harmony of opinion among doctors. In 1922 89,338 persons died of it against 76,274 in 1921, an increase in its rate from 89 to 100 per 100,000 population to 88.5.

There is encouragement in the belief of statisticians that the increase in its rate does not inherently indicate its spread, but to the fact that more persons live to the age at which it flourishes, and more important still, that it is now more accurately diagnosed, and more people are reported as having died from cancer, though it is not necessarily a fact that more actually have died from it.

N. C. DEMOCRATS TO BACK DANIELS

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 26.—The state Democratic executive committee meeting here tonight is expected to endorse former Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels for the presidential nomination at the coming Democratic convention.
Many members of the committee are said to have voiced a favorable opinion for the move.

The "Democracy of the state" also has been called to meet in Raleigh Thursday night to form a "Daniels for President Club" to actively push a national campaign for Daniels.
Daniels has openly supported William G. McAdoo for the nomination.

DRUG FIRM SUFFERS
$75,000 FIRE LOSS

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26.—Fire caused by spontaneous combustion in oil and paint soaked rags last night gutted the third and fourth floors of the Borun Bros. drug company building doing damage estimated at between $50,000 and $75, 000.
Twenty-five fire companies were called to combat the blaze. The work of the firemen was made hazardous by the high tension electric power lines that matted the parquet of the building. Several firemen were shocked, but none was seriously injured.

Ray Adkinson's Forces to Open Season on Local Oval Saturday

Santa Ana athletic followers will get their first opportunity of the season to glimpse Coach Ray Adkinson's Poly track and field athletes in action on the home oval Saturday afternoon when the local scanty-panted artists collide here with Long Beach High school in the opening meet of the Tri-County league season. The affair will begin at 2:30 o'clock.
Adkinson who has been laid up with illness for two weeks, returned to the squad today and planned a vigorous practice campaign for his cohorts for the remainder of the week.

The feature event of the matinee is expected to be the clash in the half-mile run between Bob Vawter local distance star, and Lovejoy of Long Beach. Lovejoy captured the half in the Southern California Interscholastic meet last season in just a trifle over four minutes flat. Vawter is capable of running the two-lap race in speedy time himself and he has been showing excellent form in early season competition.

Little is known of the strength of the Long Beach squad but the Beachcombers usually have a well balanced organization and probably will be a favorite to triumph in this meet since Anderson and Strosheim two crack veterans of Santa Ana, were lost to the local aggregation.
Tandy, a burly weight man, is the leading light of the Long Beach team. He is good for close to 130 lbs in the discus and has shoved the shot out past the 45-foot mark on several occasions.

DE PALMA WILL NOT RACE SIG HAUGDAHL

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26.—Ascendancy managers have run afoul Ralph De Palma's temperament again.
Sig Haugdahl, speedy Norwegian announced that he intended to use his over-size Fiat next Sunday, and George Bentel, manager, tried to match Haugdahl with De Palma in a main event for next Sunday.
Declaring he will not race Haug-dahl with any car which measures over 183 cubic inches, De Palma turned down the offer flat, and Bentel is in about the same fix as a manager of a prima donna who refuses to sing the night of the concert.

"I am willing to give any driver an edge when I agree to a match race, but I am not going to give away a whole package of razor sharp edges," De Palma said. "Just say for me that when I race any driver in a match or any other race, I must protect my friends and countrymen who look to me to win."

Vernon Main Go
Boxers Changed

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26.—
Johnny O'Donnell and Phil Sargent will fight what is reported to be a really popular main event tonight at the Vernon arena. The Manley Colima bout had to be cancelled because of an accident Manley suffered in cranking an automobile.
O'Donnell has one victory to his credit over Salvatore, but the latter demonstrated in his recent fight with Sid Barabara that he isn't as much of a dub as some of the others.

GOSSIP OF GOLF ROM

Until Glenna Collet and Edith Cummings came along Alexia Stirling was the queenly ruler of American golf, the outstanding feminine star of her generation.
She is still one of the greatest.
It will be years before her record in the national championship is beaten. From 1916 to 1920, inclusive, she was not defeated in a single match. Three times she won the big title hand-running, in 1916, 1919 and 1920. During the war years the women did not play.
Alexia's golfing history is pretty well known. She started as a child under the expert tutelage of Stevart Maiden in the Georgia metropolis and, like Topsy, just naturally grew up into a champion.
Once arrived, she dominated her field so completely as to replace the element of struggle almost to nothing. This condition retarded her development in the sense that brisk competition wasn't there to force her to travel top speed all the way. Otherwise she would have been an even greater golfer. At any rate, she would have developed a more aggressive fighting front. A gentleness of approach happens to be

Billy
Evans
SAYS

There are those who will argue that Lefty O'Doul, recently sent back to the Coast league by the Boston Red Sox, is one player who has had his big league career wrecked by failure to break into actual competition at a time when it seemed he was ready to star in the majors. It was most unfortunate for O'Doul that he was the property of the New York Americans at a time when that club hoisted an all-star aggregation.
O'Doul came to the Yankees touted as the best pitcher in the minors. With most any big league club, other than the Yanks, he would have been pressed into service at once and either delivered or proved a bust.

When O'Doul joined the Yankees the only way he could have gotten a chance as a regular would have been to use dynamite or shoot a few of the regular stars.

Failure to immediately get a chance probably shaped O'Doul's major league career as a failure.
Expecting to be used at once, it was a shock to be relegated to the bench. No doubt that took away some of his confidence. Used in bad spots, probably rendered to further discourage him. Anyway, when the New York club decided it was ready to provide a regular berth for him if he proved capable, O'Doul fell down on the job. After several years of bench warming he was sent to Boston in one of the many deals made between the Yankees and Red Sox.

At Boston O'Doul simply couldn't show the stuff that made him the most talked about minor league pitcher in the country, prior to his coming to the Yanks. He lacked the dazzling speed that featured his work in the bushes.

Pacific Coast league fans are at a loss to understand O'Doul's failure to deliver in the majors. On the coast he is regarded as one of the greatest southpaw pitchers ever turned out by that organization. He will be warmly welcomed back by the fans of that league.
Prior to joining the Yanks O'Doul won 25 games in 1921 and led the league in the matter of effectiveness from an earned-run angle. He is to be with Duffy Lewis at Salt Lake.

"All I want is the chance to work," says O'Doul in commenting on the deal. "I didn't get it in the big show. Next season some major league club is going to be willing to pay a fancy price to get me back."

POMONA OFFICIAL

the Los Angeles Automobile Trade association at 6:30 p. m. tomorcuits." This meeting is to be held

"ladies' night" banquet of the Orange County Automobile Trade association, using the same subject as at Los Angeles. This banquet will be held at the Elks' hall at Anaheim.
Batten has also been invited to deliver the principal address at the state convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution to tessence of this classification and had the right to play

Whittier for the Tri-County league title following its 13 to 5 victory over Pasadena's midgets at Pasadena yesterday afternoon.

The Crown City set-to was the first of the play-off contests to decide the three-cornered tie between Santa Ana, Pasadena and Whittier.
The locals and the Poets will tangle at the Orange Y. M. C. A.
Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock.
Coach Covington announced today.
Smith is Poly Star.

The brilliant offensive play of little Raymond Smith, sandy-haired Santa Ana forward, was largely responsible for the Poly victory.
"Rudy" Smith, the 130-pound team star who was transferred to the midget lineup for the fracas, was "covered" by the Crown City guards who forgot all about Smith in their effort to prevent Romo from getting near the hoops.

Smith shot baskets from all angles and when the brawl came to a close he had tallied ten of the thirteen Santa Ana points. Strong, former forward, who was shifted to running guard to make room for at Whittier, the other shot from the floor. Romo scored one point on a throw after a foul.

Rogers, Pasadena forward, counted four of his squad's total, the other marker coming on Reynolds' free toss.

Locals Take Offensive.
Santa Ana took the offensive from the opening gun and never was headed. Covington's men had the ball in Pasadena territory virtually all of the time and when the losers did attempt a rush into Poly's ground, the scrappy work of "Blondy" White and Strong, local guards, usually turned them back and gave Santa Ana possession of the casaba.

Due to the decisive victory of the locals, Santa Ana will be a slight favorite to triumph over Whittier. When the squads clashed the first time around the circuit, the Poets won by the score of 9 to 8. The contest was played at Whittier, Pasadena then defeated the Post midgets and Santa Ana in turn walloped the Crown
City little men.

O'ROURKE'S CHARGE

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Investigation into charges by Tom O'Rourke that Tex Rickard scalps his own fight tickets is expected to begin this afternoon at the regular meeting of the New York boxing commission.

Officially the commission has given no public notice of its intention to investigate the charges and as far as could be learned no witnesses have been called to appear at today's session.

The statement made to the district attorney's office by George Brower, chairman of the commission that he would take charge of the investigation, warranted the belief that the commission would get the machinery in motion today even if it did not get down to testimony.

Tex Rickard, who would not admit that he had been called, said he would be "available" for the commissioners this afternoon and if he was not called he would make a personal effort to be heard.

A PUZZLE A DAY

A merchant bought a fur coat for $200 and sold it for $250. What percent profit did he make on the coat?

Yesterday's answer:

The monkey weighed the weasel at the end of the twenty-eighth hop, at the corner "D" of the carpenter's bench.

At first thought, 18 would seem the answer: for in 18 hops of a foot and a half each, the weasel would cover 27 feet; while the monkey, with his two-foot hops would cover 36, and thus overcome the weasel's lead of 9 feet.

But the bench is only three feet wide; the weasel thus passes each end in two jumps; and the monkey's longer jumps give him no advantage, as it takes him five of his hops behind the weasel at the start; and he gains one hop each time the weasel travels the length of the bench. When the weasel has completed 28 circuits in 24 hops, the monkey is one hop behind, and makes it up in 4.

REVEAL PLAN TO PREVENT INQUIRY

Presidential Candidates Under Fire As Secret Messages Aired

(By United Press Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The names of Oscar Underwood and William G. McAdoo, both candidates for the Democratic nomination for president, have been found in telegrams submitted to the senate oil investigating committee in secret and which will be made public tomorrow, a committee member told the United Press this afternoon.

Underwood, the committee member said the telegram disclosed, was to be approached by A. Mitchell Palmer, former attorney general and counsel for E. B. McLean, Washington Post publisher, to "work on" Senator Walsh in an effort to have him refrain from questioning McLean regarding a loan of $100,000 to Albert B. Fall.

McAdoo and his son, Francis H. McAdoo, a New York lawyer, were named in a telegram sent by McLean from Palm Beach to one of his employees in Washington.

In his telegram the senate committee member said, McLean told his man here to go to New York and "see McAdoo. You can trust him. Either he or his father has been my personal attorney for seven years."

Effort Fails.

Apparently the efforts to get Underwood and others to "work on" Walsh were unavailing, for, according to the committee member, who told of the as yet undisclosed messages, one of McLean's men wired him a little later that "we are helpless. Its no use to do anything more. Walsh is in a fighting mood and has set his jaw."

Scores of the telegrams which will be read tomorrow are understood to be in code, the "apple" designating one man and "cherry" another.

Committee members indicated today that Francis H. McAdoo, A. Mitchell Palmer, "Doc" Smithers, White House telegrapher, John Major, employee of McLean and possibly others mentioned would be subpoenaed.

Reference to young McAdoo in a telegram indicated his advice as a lawyer was being sought by McLean on certain matters, the nature of which was not made clear.

The official announcement that the mysterious "McAdoo" was the son of Chairman Lenroot, of the committee, after telegrams had been read today.

All the messages made public today showed how closely McLean, publisher of the Washington Post, was kept informed of Washington developments regarding the naval oil scandal.

Names of many persons who have figured in the inquiry were mentioned in them.
